Parley Is Proposed On Unity

South Korea Is Opposed to Plan

Tokyo, Aug. 16 (AP)—Top Red Chinese and Korean leaders chorused a new demand yesterday for a Far East conference to unify Korea.

The proposal got short shrift in South Korea. A government spokesman in Seoul denounced it as "nothing but the usual Communist trick to gain more time for another armed aggression." he added, "we never believe in any talks with the Communists and we refuse to talk to them."

RED CHINA'S Premier Chou En-lai and commander-in-chief Chu Teh both called for the conference, provided for in the Korean armistice to work out settlement of the differences which have kept the country divided into rival north and south regimes since 1945.

North Korea's Premier Marshal Kim Il-sung went further and suggested a mutual north-south undertaking not to use force and "speedy convening" of a north-south conference to "discuss the question of Korea's unification."

The Peiping radio, heard here, carried all three speeches, made on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan.

ALL THREE speakers recalled that the 1954 Geneva conference, which reached armistice agreement on the Indochina war, also was supposed to deal with Korea's future under the 1953 armistice but failed to do so.

Chu Teh, speaking at a rally in Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, said Communist China was in "complete agreement" with the "positive proposals" put forward by Kim and that the "Chinese people . . . will do their utmost to support them."

"We consider it highly necessary to hold a far eastern conference . . . to discuss the question of unifying Korea by peaceful means," he declared.

CHU SCORED efforts of President Syngman Rhee of South Korea to get the neutral nations supervisory commission (NNSC) truce teams out of the country and said bluntly:

"No attempt to wreck the commission will be tolerated."

Rhee contends the Czech and Polish members who serve on the truce teams with Swiss and Swedes are spies. After eight days of violence which injured 44 American soldiers and 100 Koreans, demonstrations tapered off only yesterday in five South Korean cities where the truce teams are stationed.

Chou En-lai, speaking at a reception in Peiping, likewise called for a Far East conference on Korea, upheld the truce teams, and said "the United States . . . especially has an inescapable responsibility" to de-

Decides on Divorce

Airman Pondering Best Arrangement for Son

Sacramento, Calif., Aug. 16 (AP)—The Korean War B-29 gunner whose wife said she wed another man in the belief he was dead has decided he'll unravel the marital tangle by seeking a divorce.

But Airman Daniel Schmidt, 22, still hasn't made up his mind whether he will seek custody of his 2½-year-old son whom he saw for the first time after emerging from 32 months' imprisonment in Red China.

Schmidt returned last week with 10 other airmen who were with him in the B-29 when it was shot down.

HIS DIVORCE decision was announced yesterday by his attorney.

It followed a face-to-face meeting at which auburn-haired Una Schmidt-Fine, 20, refused to leave Alford Fine, 21, a logger with whom she has been living in a trailer.

"Dan wants whatever is best for the welfare of the boy," his attorney, Howard Welch said, "and hasn't decided yet whether that would mean leaving him with the boy's mother or seeking custody."

Welch said Schmidt would probably seek a divorce on general grounds—including extreme cruelty.

"Just the fact that she's not living with Schmidt is enough grounds for extreme cruelty," he said.

IF SCHMIDT asks the court for the custody of Danny Jr., and wins, the youngster would live with Schmidt's mother, Mrs. Nellie Peters of Portland, Ore., Welch said.

In Portland, Mrs. Peters said she had offered to take the child when she talked to Schmidt after his dramatic face-to-face conference with his wife in Nevada City. Mrs. Peters said she hasn't heard from her son

Argentina Tense Over Charges Plot Made on Peron

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 16 (AP)—Government charges that "Catholic Nationalists" and opposition politicians had plotted to shoot President Juan Peron brought Argentina to its greatest state of tension since the June 16 revolt.

Police said more than 50 persons had been arrested in connection with the alleged plot, but other sources indicated as many as 200 might have been jailed. Previous announcements of such plot during the nine years of Peron's regime have signaled widespread roundups of his enemies.

THE GOVERNMENT crackdown could signal the end of the "pacification" campaign Peron launched after the abortive navy uprising two months ago.

It also could mean a new flareup in the feud between the president and the Roman Catholic Church — mostly dormant since the revolt — and a new crackdown on the opposition parties which have refused to go alone with the pacification campaign unless the government ends its restrictive measures.

ADDING TO the unrest were new antigovernment demonstrations, in front of Buenos Aires' Metropolitan Cathedral last night and earlier yesterday in the central Argentine city of Cordoba. Police used tear gas and fire hoses to scatter the crowds, arresting about 40 demonstrators in the capital and 15 in Cordoba.

There were no signs of special measures to protect the president. The government announcement said the plotters had planned to shoot him yesterday, from an apartment they had rented on the route along which he usually drove between his office and his home.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT charged that the conspirators planned also to kill Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, the army minister who quashed the June revolt, and other top officials and

National Head To Visit Kiwanis

J. A. Raney, Indianapolis educator, who was elected president of Kiwanis International at the organization's 40th annual convention in Cleveland during June, will be the official guest of Kiwanis Club of Kingston at its regular noon luncheon meeting Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Also expected to attend is Dr. Lawrence Hall, governor of the New York State District, and delegations from clubs in the Hudson River Division.

A KIWANIAN for 19 years, Mr. Raney held a vice-presidency immediately prior to his selection for the Number One post. He has had a long and active career in Kiwanis, having served as president of the Indianapolis Club, lieutenant governor of the Indiana Kiwanis District and chairman of the International Committee on Boys and Girls Work.

His most recent assignment was chairman of the convention program committee for the 40th anniversary convention. Rioting in Bombay

Portuguese Consulate Stormed by Angry Mob

Bombay, India, Aug. 16 (AP)—Inflamed over yesterday's bloodshed in Portuguese India, frenzied mobs of Indians rioted through Bombay today. They hoisted the Indian flag over the Portuguese consulate, forced newspapers, shops and business houses to close, and surrounded government buildings.

Demonstrators shouted "Nehru—leave Delhi and lead us to Goa!" as they stoned the consulate and smashed its windows. The consulate personnel had been evacuated earlier.

POLICE OPENED fire on the mob, wounding three demonstrators. Several bus and streetcar conductors were hurt in attacks on their vehicles as the mob enforced a general strike throughout the city.

Beginning at dawn, more than 150,000 Indians marched past the consulate screaming demands for military action against the three small Portuguese territories north and south of Bombay. Guards there yesterday killed an undetermined number of "nonviolent" Indian marchers demanding the cession of the areas to India.

IN NEW DELHI, Prime Minister Nehru told the Indian Parliament that his government would not be "provoked" by the killings into military action against Portugal. He said he would continue to seek the transfer of Portuguese India, the last foreign territory in the country, by peaceful means.

Shops were also closed throughout New Delhi by a 24-hour protest strike.

Nehru said latest information from the Bombay state government put the toll in the march into the Portuguese colonies at 15 dead and 28 wounded but he said the casualties might have been greater. He reported some 800 demonstrators were still in Goa and Diu, two of the settlements, and said there was no

3 Youths Reported Caught At Rosendale Break-in

Three young men, two of them teen-agers, were caught as they attempted to enter Vaughn's Drug Store, Main street Rosendale, early this morning, and arrested on charges of burglarly third degree.

The three were caught by Police Officer George Bockelman of Rosendale and Mayor J. W. Vaughn, proprietor of the drug store, who had been tipped off that a break was planned.

Officer Bockelman took a position in the cellar of the store after the lights were extinguised last night and Mr. Vaughn sat in the darkness inside the store, according to the Ulster county sheriff's office.

The three youths, unarmed, were nabbed when they broke in a screen and opened a back door to the cellar, it was reported. They offered no resistance.

They were Duane N. Mogan, 20, of 25 Second avenue, Kingston, Robert Bridges, 18, of Box 386, Rosendale and Frederick Vaughn, 16, of Box 34, Saugerties.

They were arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Wilfred G. Doolittle of Rosendale, waived examination and were held for the grand jury. Bail had not been fixed this morning.

The sheriff's office received a call at 12:30 a. m. from Mr. Bockelman asking for assistance and Deputies Frank Crnkovic and Arthur Smith were dispatched to Rosendale. They returned the three youth to the Ulster County Jail.

One of the three, Bridges, was posted in an alleyway to act as a lookout during the break, Deputy Smith said.

New Hurricane Menaces Carolina Coastal Area

Center Winds Are Down to 100 MPH

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 16 (AP)—Hurricane Diane, her intensity and forward movement slightly diminished, but still dangerous, drove menacingly toward the Carolina coast today.

With possibilities of a curve northward, the coast north of Wilmington, N. C., to the Virginia capes was put on hurricane alert. Hurricane warnings were up south of there to Fernandina, Fla.

THE WEATHER bureau in an 11 a. m., (EST) advisory placed this fourth hurricane of the season 325 miles southeast of Myrtle Beach, S. C., her center winds reduced from 115 to 100 miles an hour. Her movement remained west-northwest (more west than north) at 10 miles per hour.

The advisory added:

"Continued movement at about 10 miles per hour toward the west-northwest with a slow turn toward the northwest later today or tonight is expected. This course should bring the center to the upper South Carolina or the North Carolina coast Wednesday morning.

"WINDS WILL increase slowly along the North and South Carolina coast today and should reach gale (39 to 54 miles an hour) to hurricane (above 75 miles an hour) force late tonight or early Wednesday. Tides are now reported one to four feet above normal and should reach six to eight feet above normal near and for 50 miles east of where the center crosses the coast."

The latest advisory appeared to have relieved Georgia coast points from immediate danger.

The possibility of a curve to the northward placed the North Carolina coast country in acute danger. Only last week it was swept by hurricane Connie.

MARINES JOINED highway crews, civilian volunteers and convicts today in a feverish attempt to throw up sand breakwaters along North Carolina's beaches. Connie's high tides washed away many of the dunes which protect beach buildings.

"It scares me to death to think what would happen if another storm struck," said North Carolina's Gov. Luther Hodges after a 600-mile flight over the stricken area.

Only last Oct. 15 Hurricane Hazel burst in upon the land at the North Carolina-South Caro-

Gallagher Denies He Dragged Man to Death

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Sgt. James C. Gallagher said today he believed personal dislike of him influenced the testimony of one witness at his court-martial for the unpremeditated murder of three fellow prisoners in Korea.

Gallagher, 23, of Brooklyn, on the stand in his own defense, said he referred to Sgt. L. C. Lloyd W. Pate, of Augusta, Ga., who testified for the prosecution.

He said he once had told Pate to "mind his own — — business."

"Do you know of any reason why Pate would want to lie?" Maj. James J. Jenkins, the prosecutor, asked in cross-examination.

"Not that I know of," said Gallagher. "I know the man disliked me."

The six-foot, red-haired defendant said Pate disliked him because of the death of Cpl. John William Jones, of Detroit, in the Chinese Red prison camp.

Gallagher is accused of dragging Jones who was ill, from a hut to frigid temperatures outside and leaving him to die.

"He came up one day and accused me of murdering Jones," Gallagher said. "I told him to mind his own — — business."

Jenkins questioned Gallagher

Surprise Atomic Attack Concern of U.S. at Parley

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The United States will concentrate, at this month's disarmament conference on finding ways to prevent any nation from making a surprise atomic attack.

Officials pointed up this approach today as a major U. S. goal which will come up for discussion at a meeting of a UN disarmament subcommittee in New York Aug. 29. The United States, Britain, Russia, France and Canada will be represented.

As one official put it, in talking of the possibilities last night:

"If you can prevent a surprise attack, you can prevent any attack. With weapons as devastating as those which exist today, no nation will start a war without a surprise attack."

As part of the plan, this country proposes to press for Russian acceptance of President Eisenhower's suggestion for exchange of military blueprints and aerial reconnaissance privilges, made at the Geneva Summit Conference.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin first appeared to reject the plan, but he later said it was still under study.

Rioting in Bombay

Portuguese Consulate Stormed by Angry Mob

Bombay, India, Aug. 16 (AP)—Inflamed over yesterday's bloodshed in Portuguese India, frenzied mobs of Indians rioted through Bombay today. They hoisted the Indian flag over the Portuguese consulate, forced newspapers, shops and business houses to close, and surrounded government buildings.

Demonstrators shouted "Nehru—leave Delhi and lead us to Goa!" as they stoned the consulate and smashed its windows. The consulate personnel had been evacuated earlier.

POLICE OPENED fire on the mob, wounding three demonstrators. Several bus and streetcar conductors were hurt in attacks on their vehicles as the mob enforced a general strike throughout the city.

Beginning at dawn, more than 150,000 Indians marched past the consulate screaming demands for military action against the three small Portuguese territories north and south of Bombay. Guards there yesterday killed an undetermined number of "nonviolent" Indian marchers demanding the cession of the areas to India.

IN NEW DELHI, Prime Minister Nehru told the Indian Parliament that his government would not be "provoked" by the killings into military action against Portugal. He said he would continue to seek the transfer of Portuguese India, the last foreign territory in the country, by peaceful means.

Shops were also closed throughout New Delhi by a 24-hour protest strike.

Nehru said latest information from the Bombay state government put the toll in the march into the Portuguese colonies at 15 dead and 28 wounded but he said the casualties might have been greater. He reported some 800 demonstrators were still in Goa and Diu, two of the settlements, and said there was no

3 Youths Reported Caught At Rosendale Break-in

Three young men, two of them teen-agers, were caught as they attempted to enter Vaughn's Drug Store, Main street Rosendale, early this morning, and arrested on charges of burglarly third degree.

The three were caught by Police Officer George Bockelman of Rosendale and Mayor J. W. Vaughn, proprietor of the drug store, who had been tipped off that a break was planned.

Officer Bockelman took a position in the cellar of the store after the lights were extinguised last night and Mr. Vaughn sat in the darkness inside the store, according to the Ulster county sheriff's office.

The three youths, unarmed, were nabbed when they broke in a screen and opened a back door to the cellar, it was reported. They offered no resistance.

They were Duane N. Mogan, 20, of 25 Second avenue, Kingston, Robert Bridges, 18, of Box 386, Rosendale and Frederick Vaughn, 16, of Box 34, Saugerties.

They were arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Wilfred G. Doolittle of Rosendale, waived examination and were held for the grand jury. Bail had not been fixed this morning.

The sheriff's office received a call at 12:30 a. m. from Mr. Bockelman asking for assistance and Deputies Frank Crnkovic and Arthur Smith were dispatched to Rosendale. They returned the three youth to the Ulster County Jail.

One of the three, Bridges, was posted in an alleyway to act as a lookout during the break, Deputy Smith said.

Cites Personal Dislike

Gallagher Denies He Dragged Man to Death

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Sgt. James C. Gallagher said today he believed personal dislike of him influenced the testimony of one witness at his court-martial for the unpremeditated murder of three fellow prisoners in Korea.

Gallagher, 23, of Brooklyn, on the stand in his own defense, said he referred to Sgt. L. C. Lloyd W. Pate, of Augusta, Ga., who testified for the prosecution.

He said he once had told Pate to "mind his own — — business."

"Do you know of any reason why Pate would want to lie?" Maj. James J. Jenkins, the prosecutor, asked in cross-examination.

"Not that I know of," said Gallagher. "I know the man disliked me."

The six-foot, red-haired defendant said Pate disliked him because of the death of Cpl. John William Jones, of Detroit, in the Chinese Red prison camp.

Gallagher is accused of dragging Jones who was ill, from a hut to frigid temperatures outside and leaving him to die.

"He came up one day and accused me of murdering Jones," Gallagher said. "I told him to mind his own — — business."

Jenkins questioned Gallagher

Surprise Atomic Attack Concern of U.S. at Parley

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The United States will concentrate, at this month's disarmament conference on finding ways to prevent any nation from making a surprise atomic attack.

Officials pointed up this approach today as a major U. S. goal which will come up for discussion at a meeting of a UN disarmament subcommittee in New York Aug. 29. The United States, Britain, Russia, France and Canada will be represented.

As one official put it, in talking of the possibilities last night:

"If you can prevent a surprise attack, you can prevent any attack. With weapons as devastating as those which exist today, no nation will start a war without a surprise attack."

As part of the plan, this country proposes to press for Russian acceptance of President Eisenhower's suggestion for exchange of military blueprints and aerial reconnaissance privilges, made at the Geneva Summit Conference.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin first appeared to reject the plan, but he later said it was still under study.

Harold E. Stassen, special assistant to the President on disarmament, said Eisenhower's

Housing Project Starts Near New Paltz for 90 Families

Work was commenced this week on a new housing development two miles north of New Paltz just off Route 32, which will ultimately provide homes for from 80 to 90 families. The new development, which is located approximately mid-way between the Kingston and Poughkeepsie plants of IBM, is known as Paradise Acres and lies just off Route 32, with an unobstructed view of the Shawangunk mountains.

Actual construction of homes will begin as soon as preliminary work on laying out streets is completed and it was stated today that delivery of homes will commence in about four months. Present plans call for laying out two or three streets in the development.

Plots, which may be acquired by deposit and held by persons now renting until such time as they are ready to build a home, will be restricted to 100 by 125 or 135 feet in size and the owners will either sell the lots or act as general contractors for building homes. Homes will be restricted to the $12,000 to $18,000 class. A distance of 60 feet between houses will be maintained and some of the lots are located in an apple orchard with apple trees remaining on the premises.

Plans call for future dredging of a pond on the premises which will provide swimming facilities for the residents of Paradise Acres. There is bus service and the village of New Paltz provides excellent school facilities.

The site is approximately 15 miles from either the Kingston or Poughkeepsie IBM plant. Lots will be in the $700 to $1,000 bracket it was stated.

The accident occurred on Track 3 about 600 feet north of mile post 65.

The assistant Dutchess county medical examiner, a Dr. Bennett, issued a verdict of death due to dismemberment. The investigation is continuing.

Red Arms Slash Would Still Leave Soviet Powerful

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russia's announced intention to reduce its armed forces "appears to reflect Soviet recognition of the peaceful purposes of the United States and its allies."

But he warned that the cut will leave Russian forces "much larger" than those of the United States, and continue other elements of Russian military strength unimpaired.

Furthermore, Dulles stressed the point that the Soviets have never given out any information on the size of their forces or the nature of their weapons.

HE SAID the whole situation created by the Russian announcement last Saturday shows why an international exchange of information and a system of "effective inspection" are necessary for any "intelligent approach" to the control and reduction of military power.

In a formal statement at his news conference, Dulles also said the United States government hopes that great power talks on disarmament which will begin under United Nations sponsorship in New York Aug. 29 "can make progress toward establishing a reliable international system of inspection."

IN SATURDAY'S announcement, the Soviet government said it planned to cut its armed forces by 640,000 men by next Dec. 15.

Dulles also told his news conference:

1. The starting point of the United States in the forthcoming disarmament talks will be President Eisenhower's statement before the Summit conference at Geneva last month in which he called for a reliable system of inspection as the foundation for any arms cut plan.

2. Britain's objections to American publication of a record of the Summit conference are based on a misunderstanding. Dulles reiterated what other officials here said yesterday—That the United States wants to publish only a compilation of conference statements previously made public.

3. The United States is talking with non-Communist members of the Korean truce commission and United Nations allies of the Korean war about curtailing the commission's activities and eventually eliminating it.

DULLES SAID the United States has made no new commitments on this issue, which has stirred rioting in South Korea, to South Korea President Syngman Rhee.

And he once more rejected any suggestion that the United States would use force or act on its own to oust the truce teams.

4. Dulles welcomed recent statements by Communist Korean and Red Chinese leaders that unification of Korea should not be sought by force. He has been demanding renunciation of force by the Chinese Communists for months and he said speeches made in connection with the tenth anniversary of the ending of Japanese rule over Korea are a slight augury for good. If the Reds want a Korean settlement, he said, what they should do is agree to nationwide elections supervised by the United Nations.

5. The United States intends to go on negotiating with the Chinese Communists for the release of Americans detained in China so long as there is any chance of getting those people out. Dulles said talks underway at Geneva between Ambassador Alexis Johnson and Ambassador Wang Ping-nan of Red China on this problem have made no significant progress.

Japs Would Stay

London, Aug. 16 (AP)—Red China said today there are about 6,000 Japanese civilians living in China and that all have expressed a desire to stay there permanently or for the time being. "Should any of them change their minds and apply for facilities for returning to Japan, the Chinese government will provide them," said a statement by the Red Chinese Foreign Ministry broadcast by Peiping Radio.

Predicts Truman To Head Winning Ticket in 1956

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 16 (AP)—Gov. James E. Folsom, one of the few who predicted Harry Truman's election in 1948, is forecasting a Democratic victory again in 1956 with the former President once more at the head of the ticket.

Folsom has made the prediction several times in recent weeks. He repeated it at his news conference this morning.

"I JUST figure Mr. Truman is a candidate," the governor explained, "and if he's a candidate he'll be nominated, and if he's nominated he'll be elected."

Folsom didn't elaborate except to say "if I was a candidate for any office I'd be doing just what Mr. Truman is doing. I just think he'll be elected, that's all."

For the vice presidential nominee, the governor who sought the Democratic presidential nomination himself seven years ago, said the Democarats should pick "some young fellow" in 1956—"someone like Soapsuds Williams (Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan) or Clement (Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee.)"

Woman Is Injured In Local Mishap

Mrs. Mary Demko of Jamaica Plains, Mass., who suffered injuries yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision on Route 209 about a mile south of Hurley, was reported in good condition at Benedictine Hospital.

Mrs. Demko was a passenger in a 1952 suburban operated by her husband, Joseph Demko, 33, when it was in a head-on collision with a 1950 sedan operated by William Scott, 32, of West Wareham, Mass., Kingston State Police reported.

She suffered lacerations of the forehead and back injuries, it was reported.

Trooper H. H. Ganss said Mr. Demko, proceeding north, applied his brakes suddenly to avoid hitting a truck ahead of him. In so doing he swerved to the left into the southbound lane and was in head-on collision with the Scott vehicle according to Trooper Ganss.

Both care were heavily damaged and had to be towed away. There were no arrests.

Will Exhume Body

Freehold, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP)—Monmouth County Prosecutor Vincent P. Keuper today obtained a court order to exhume the body of an 81-year-old man killed in a Garden State Parkway accident July 7. The crash victim, Charles Hlavac of New York, left his $100,000 estate to his housekeeper who was with him in the car at the time of the crash, Keuper said. "In view of the circumstances that have come to my attention in the last week, a request for an order to disinter the body was warranted," the prosecutor said. "I shall decide after the autopsy what steps are to be taken."

Sentences Under Study

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Big Three western powers and the Bonn government have started reviewing the sentences of German war criminals held in allied prisons in Germany. British officials said today that a special American-British-French-German board is now meeting several times a week. Under the Paris treaties, the United States, Britain and France will be bound by its decisions. It can order the release of any or all of the war criminals still in in West Germany.

Stage Folk Won't Give Answers

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—A congressional probe of Red activity in show business brought up a solid line of opening day witnesses firmly opposed to answering questions.

Altogether six actors and an actress were called before the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday and each in turn refused to answer when asked about communism. When one declared this refusal contained no implication of guilt, committee chairman Francis E. Walter (D.-Pa.) snapped back:

"You can refuse to answer and we can all draw whatever inference we wish."

The probe was denounced as a "star chamber procedure" by actor Lou Polan. Ignoring the committee counsel and the banging gavel of Chairman Walter, Polan read a statement arguing that the committee lacked authority to conduct the investigation. At the end he announced: "I refuse to answer any questions that this committee puts before me." His defiance brought applause from the hearing audience, but Walter warned it could bring a citation for contempt.

Bay State Reports 136 Polio Cases

Boston, Aug. 16 (AP)—Massachusetts health officials today reported 136 new cases of polio bringing the state total for 1955 to 1,371.

Today's case report was the highest for a single day in the current epidemic. The previous was 111 last Wednesday.

Health officials said the total contained many weekend reports from communities. More are expected tomorrow.

THE 1,371 CASES to date compared with 129 in the state on this date a year ago.

Dr. Roy Feemster, director of the Division of Communicable Diseases in the State Health Department, said "I'm expecting a single high peak that might run at a level for two or three weeks and then drop precipitiously."

"If my prediction is borne out," said Dr. Feemster, "we'll find that by Labor Day the number of cases will be going down rather rapidly. Ordinarily we don't get our peak until Labor Day but this year the outbreak started earlier."

New Hurricane

lina border and swept northward all the way to Canada, killing 177 persons and doing an estimated 1¼ billion dollars worth of damage. Last week's Connie was less severe. But her damage ran into the tens of millions and her death toll was 42. No one died, however, in the well-warned beach areas.

ONE RESULT of Diane's approach was to postpone plans for a full-dress ceremony for the swearing in of Adm. Arleigh A. Burke as chief of naval operations. The ceremony was to have been held aboard the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga at Norfolk, Va. Under the revision the swearing-in will be tomorrow at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Reports from South Carolina beaches said that little preparation was needed for the blow. Vacationers went for early morning dips in the surf at Myrtle Beach beneath a warm sun and blue skies. Civilian defense spokesmen said last week's rehearsals for Connie had prepared that area for any eventuality.

"Vacancy" signs appeared at most of the beach inns and motor courts, but town officials said there had been no general evacuation, as such. They said there simply were few incoming tourists to replace those who departed after completing vacations.

THE CHARLESTON weather bureau said heavy rains would visit the entire coastal area tonight. The forecast was for four or more inches of rain. Inland floods and extensive crop damage were feared.

To the southward, Police Chief David McCutcheon ordered Savannah Beach, Ga., evacuated. Numerous sea islands along South Carolina and Georgia were particularly vulnerable to high water. Some are only five or fewer feet above sea level.

Red Cross workers today had taken up positions along the coasts of the three threatened states. They were equipped with medical supplies, food and clothing.

AMATEUR RADIO operators set up an emergency network to handle emergency messages.

Vessels of the Atlantic Fleet mine force here were moved from the Ashley river to hurricane anchorages at the naval ammunition depot in the upper Cooper river.

Naval, marine, air force and army planes at numerous military installations have been flown inland for the duration of the hurricane alert.

BULLDOZERS and earth-moving machinery from the Second Marine Division, based at Camp Lejeune, N. C., labored to throw up artificial dunes at Atlantic Beach, N. C. Other marine equipment went to Surf City, N. C., and still more men and equipment were held in reserve to be sped to endangered points if the need should arise.

City Manager Joel C. Herren of Kure Beach, N. C., which is southeast of Wilmington, said, "unfortunately, a strong northeast wind sprang up that virtually precluded doing anything toward building up our dunes. We have property in imminent danger with nothing between our houses and the ocean."

Bank Names Rusk

practice was continued by their father, also John Rusk, and by the present partnership which was formed in 1930.

Mr. Rusk has been attorney for the town of Marlborough Central School since it was organized in 1934 and attorney for the First National Bank of Marlborough and the First National Bank of Milton for the past 25 years.

During World War 2 he was stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

He married the former Ida Conn of Milton and they have three children. A daughter, Jane, who will graduate from Cornell in September, is associated as a nurse with the Ulster County Health Department, Kingston. A son, George, is entering his third year in law school at Cornell and the youngest, Peter, is in high school at Marlborough Central.

Robeson Bid Rejected

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—A federal judge today rejected Paul Robeson's request for an order requiring the State Department to issue him a passport. U. S. District Judge Burnita S. Matthews ruled the State Department had not acted arbitrarily in demanding that the Negro singer sign a noncommunist affidavit.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 16 (AP) — Irregular price movements prevailed today in the stock market.

There were both higher and lower swings of a minor nature in the market and there also was a divergent trend among major divisions.

Housing Project Starts Near New Paltz for 90 Families

Work was commenced this week on a new housing development two miles north of New Paltz just off Route 32, which will ultimately provide homes for from 80 to 90 families. The new development, which is located approximately mid-way between the Kingston and Poughkeepsie plants of IBM, is known as Paradise Acres and lies just off Route 32, with an unobstructed view of the Shawangunk mountains.

Actual construction of homes will begin as soon as preliminary work on laying out streets is completed and it was stated today that delivery of homes will commence in about four months. Present plans call for laying out two or three streets in the development.

Plots, which may be acquired by deposit and held by persons now renting until such time as they are ready to build a home, will be restricted to 100 by 125 or 135 feet in size and the owners will either sell the lots or act as general contractors for building homes. Homes will be restricted to the $12,000 to $18,000 class. A distance of 60 feet between houses will be maintained and some of the lots are located in an apple orchard with apple trees remaining on the premises.

Plans call for future dredging of a pond on the premises which will provide swimming facilities for the residents of Paradise Acres. There is bus service and the village of New Paltz provides excellent school facilities.

The site is approximately 15 miles from either the Kingston or Poughkeepsie IBM plant. Lots will be in the $700 to $1,000 bracket it was stated.

Red Arms Slash Would Still Leave Soviet Powerful

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russia's announced intention to reduce its armed forces "appears to reflect Soviet recognition of the peaceful purposes of the United States and its allies."

But he warned that the cut will leave Russian forces "much larger" than those of the United States, and continue other elements of Russian military strength unimpaired.

Furthermore, Dulles stressed the point that the Soviets have never given out any information on the size of their forces or the nature of their weapons.

HE SAID the whole situation created by the Russian announcement last Saturday shows why an international exchange of information and a system of "effective inspection" are necessary for any "intelligent approach" to the control and reduction of military power.

In a formal statement at his news conference, Dulles also said the United States government hopes that great power talks on disarmament which will begin under United Nations sponsorship in New York Aug. 29 "can make progress toward establishing a reliable international system of inspection."

IN SATURDAY'S announcement, the Soviet government said it planned to cut its armed forces by 640,000 men by next Dec. 15.

Dulles also told his news conference:

1. The starting point of the United States in the forthcoming disarmament talks will be President Eisenhower's statement before the Summit conference at Geneva last month in which he called for a reliable system of inspection as the foundation for any arms cut plan.

2. Britain's objections to American publication of a record of the Summit conference are based on a misunderstanding. Dulles reiterated what other officials here said yesterday—That the United States wants to publish only a compilation of conference statements previously made public.

3. The United States is talking with non-Communist members of the Korean truce commission and United Nations allies of the Korean war about curtailing the commission's activities and eventually eliminating it.

DULLES SAID the United States has made no new commitments on this issue, which has stirred rioting in South Korea, to South Korea President Syngman Rhee.

And he once more rejected any suggestion that the United States would use force or act on its own to oust the truce teams.

4. Dulles welcomed recent statements by Communist Korean and Red Chinese leaders that unification of Korea should not be sought by force. He has been demanding renunciation of force by the Chinese Communists for months and he said speeches made in connection with the tenth anniversary of the ending of Japanese rule over Korea are a slight augury for good. If the Reds want a Korean settlement, he said, what they should do is agree to nationwide elections supervised by the United Nations.

5. The United States intends to go on negotiating with the Chinese Communists for the release of Americans detained in China so long as there is any chance of getting those people out. Dulles said talks underway at Geneva between Ambassador Alexis Johnson and Ambassador Wang Ping-nan of Red China on this problem have made no significant progress.

Two Not Afflicted

Camp Drum, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—A battalion commander says two of three Massachusetts national guardsmen examined for polio at Sampson Air Force Base do not have the disease. Lt. Col. Japs Would Stay

London, Aug. 16 (AP)—Red China said today there are about 6,000 Japanese civilians living in China and that all have expressed a desire to stay there permanently or for the time being. "Should any of them change their minds and apply for facilities for returning to Japan, the Chinese government will provide them," said a statement by the Red Chinese Foreign Ministry broadcast by Peiping Radio.

Predicts Truman To Head Winning Ticket in 1956

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 16 (AP)—Gov. James E. Folsom, one of the few who predicted Harry Truman's election in 1948, is forecasting a Democratic victory again in 1956 with the former President once more at the head of the ticket.

Folsom has made the prediction several times in recent weeks. He repeated it at his news conference this morning.

"I JUST figure Mr. Truman is a candidate," the governor explained, "and if he's a candidate he'll be nominated, and if he's nominated he'll be elected."

Folsom didn't elaborate except to say "if I was a candidate for any office I'd be doing just what Mr. Truman is doing. I just think he'll be elected, that's all."

For the vice presidential nominee, the governor who sought the Democratic presidential nomination himself seven years ago, said the Democarats should pick "some young fellow" in 1956—"someone like Soapsuds Williams (Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan) or Clement (Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee.)"

Will Exhume Body

Freehold, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP)—Monmouth County Prosecutor Vincent P. Keuper today obtained a court order to exhume the body of an 81-year-old man killed in a Garden State Parkway accident July 7. The crash victim, Charles Hlavac of New York, left his $100,000 estate to his housekeeper who was with him in the car at the time of the crash, Keuper said. "In view of the circumstances that have come to my attention in the last week, a request for an order to disinter the body was warranted," the prosecutor said. "I shall decide after the autopsy what steps are to be taken."

Under the Paris treaties, the United States, Britain and France will be bound by its decisions. It can order the release of any or all of the war criminals still in in West Germany.

Stage Folk Won't Give Answers

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—A congressional probe of Red activity in show business brought up a solid line of opening day witnesses firmly opposed to answering questions.

Altogether six actors and an actress were called before the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday and each in turn refused to answer when asked about communism. When one declared this refusal contained no implication of guilt, committee chairman Francis E. Walter (D.-Pa.) snapped back:

"You can refuse to answer and we can all draw whatever inference we wish."

The probe was denounced as a "star chamber procedure" by actor Lou Polan. Ignoring the committee counsel and the banging gavel of Chairman Walter, Polan read a statement arguing that the committee lacked authority to conduct the investigation. At the end he announced: "I refuse to answer any questions that this committee puts before me." His defiance brought applause from the hearing audience, but Walter warned it could bring a citation for contempt.

Bay State Reports 136 Polio Cases

Boston, Aug. 16 (AP)—Massachusetts health officials today reported 136 new cases of polio bringing the state total for 1955 to 1,371.

Today's case report was the highest for a single day in the current epidemic. The previous was 111 last Wednesday.

Health officials said the total contained many weekend reports from communities. More are expected tomorrow.

THE 1,371 CASES to date compared with 129 in the state on this date a year ago.

Dr. Roy Feemster, director of the Division of Communicable Diseases in the State Health Department, said "I'm expecting a single high peak that might run at a level for two or three weeks and then drop precipitiously."

"If my prediction is borne out," said Dr. Feemster, "we'll find that by Labor Day the number of cases will be going down rather rapidly. Ordinarily we don't get our peak until Labor Day but this year the outbreak started earlier."

New Hurricane

lina border and swept northward all the way to Canada, killing 177 persons and doing an estimated 1¼ billion dollars worth of damage. Last week's Connie was less severe. But her damage ran into the tens of millions and her death toll was 42. No one died, however, in the well-warned beach areas.

ONE RESULT of Diane's approach was to postpone plans for a full-dress ceremony for the swearing in of Adm. Arleigh A. Burke as chief of naval operations. The ceremony was to have been held aboard the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga at Norfolk, Va. Under the revision the swearing-in will be tomorrow at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Reports from South Carolina beaches said that little preparation was needed for the blow. Vacationers went for early morning dips in the surf at Myrtle Beach beneath a warm sun and blue skies. Civilian defense spokesmen said last week's rehearsals for Connie had prepared that area for any eventuality.

"Vacancy" signs appeared at most of the beach inns and motor courts, but town officials said there had been no general evacuation, as such. They said there simply were few incoming tourists to replace those who departed after completing vacations.

THE CHARLESTON weather bureau said heavy rains would visit the entire coastal area tonight. The forecast was for four or more inches of rain. Inland floods and extensive crop damage were feared.

To the southward, Police Chief David McCutcheon ordered Savannah Beach, Ga., evacuated. Numerous sea islands along South Carolina and Georgia were particularly vulnerable to high water. Some are only five or fewer feet above sea level.

Red Cross workers today had taken up positions along the coasts of the three threatened states. They were equipped with medical supplies, food and clothing.

AMATEUR RADIO operators set up an emergency network to handle emergency messages.

Vessels of the Atlantic Fleet mine force here were moved from the Ashley river to hurricane anchorages at the naval ammunition depot in the upper Cooper river.

Naval, marine, air force and army planes at numerous military installations have been flown inland for the duration of the hurricane alert.

BULLDOZERS and earth-moving machinery from the Second Marine Division, based at Camp Lejeune, N. C., labored to throw up artificial dunes at Atlantic Beach, N. C. Other marine equipment went to Surf City, N. C., and still more men and equipment were held in reserve to be sped to endangered points if the need should arise.

City Manager Joel C. Herren of Kure Beach, N. C., which is southeast of Wilmington, said, "unfortunately, a strong northeast wind sprang up that virtually precluded doing anything toward building up our dunes. We have property in imminent danger with nothing between our houses and the ocean."

Bank Names Rusk

practice was continued by their father, also John Rusk, and by the present partnership which was formed in 1930.

Mr. Rusk has been attorney for the town of Marlborough Central School since it was organized in 1934 and attorney for the First National Bank of Marlborough and the First National Bank of Milton for the past 25 years.

During World War 2 he was stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

He married the former Ida Conn of Milton and they have three children. A daughter, Jane, who will graduate from Cornell in September, is associated as a nurse with the Ulster County Health Department, Kingston. A son, George, is entering his third year in law school at Cornell and the youngest, Peter, is in high school at Marlborough Central.

Robeson Bid Rejected

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—A federal judge today rejected Paul Robeson's request for an order requiring the State Department to issue him a passport. U. S. District Judge Burnita S. Matthews ruled the State Department had not acted arbitrarily in demanding that the Negro singer sign a noncommunist affidavit.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Irregular price movements prevailed today in the stock market.

There were both higher and lower swings of a minor nature in the market and there also was a divergent trend among major divisions.

Trading was light although it was better than yesterday's 1,230,000 shares, lowest since January a year ago.

Economists Concerned About Easy Payments

(Editors' Note: You can buy almost anything now for a few dollars down—or nothing down. That's one of the things that worries many businessmen and economists in these booming times. Is credit too liberal? Is the situation dangerous? Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, in the second of three articles outlines this phase of consumer credit.)

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—You walk along the street and see a sign on a good used car: "Only $5 down."

You look at a new house and the builder tells you: "If you're a veteran, $200 down is all you need." (Until recently you didn't need even that.)

Your radio blares: "Install a window cooler now, payments start next April."

An add in the paper says: "Wall-to-wall carpeting for the entire house at $4 a week."

NEXT TO striking oil, it's the easiest way man ever has devised for raising his standard of living—and fast.

It's also one of the easiest ways of getting beyond your depth if you don't watch your step.

The vast majority of Americans are meeting their weekly or monthly payments. Finance companies say the record of instalment payments on cars is now the best in history. In June, when a record $1,766,000,000 of credit was extended to new car buyers, others were paying in $1,190,000,000 on previous loans.

THE PERCENTAGE of delinquencies and repossessions remains at a remarkably low level—and stable over the years. But as the total of consumer debt rises, the total amount of delinquencies tends to rise also, even if at the same low percentage.

The American Collectors Assn. says that six million American families are delinquent on payments for one or more things they've bought on time.

An agency that specializes in helping families after they get in a financial mess estimates that 10 million families are pinched by the debts they've piled up with overenthusiasm.

THE QUALITY of some instalment loans in recent months worries administration officials. Terms have been getting easier—down payments lower, maturity times extended.

This has been due largely to sales competition. Almost all kinds of consumer goods are in abundant supply. To move them, merchants and dealers have been luring customers by making payments smaller—extending them over more months, but making total interest charges higher in the long run.

This widens markets greatly and keeps the business boom rolling. Those who can't afford cash can stretch weekly paychecks over easy payments. A man who figures he can afford a low-priced car may buy a higher price one if told that payments can be made so easy the monthly sum is about the same he'd expected to pay on the lower priced car.

HOW DO PEOPLE get in over their depth? Silver Shield, an organization that makes a business of trying to help people who find they can't meet their payments—and charges 10 per cent for doing it — says that most of them just didn't realize they were taking on so much debt.

Modern merchandising puts such emphasis on the time payment sales and makes credit look so easy that a family lacking sound money judgment just eases into debt before it knows it.

Others are victims of illness or reduced income because of loss of overtime or from layoffs.

THE FIRST thing Silver Shield asks such a family is if one or more members are willing to take on an extra job to get more income to pay off the debts—and meet the added 10 per cent fee. If they aren't, there's nothing much that can be done for them.

The great majority of Americans, fortunately, are in need of no such service. And finance companies and bankers have assured the administration that from now on they'll be looking more closely to see if loan applicants are credit-worthy.

St. Paul Is Flagship

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 16 (AP)—The heavy cruiser St. Paul, recently arrived from its home port of Long Beach, Calif., today became the flagship of the U. S. 7th Fleet. The El Dorado, fleet flagship since early May, is returning to the United States.

Brewing Industry Safety Records

C. Schmidt & Sons, Inc., Philadelphia brewers, was leading the American brewing industry in safety achievements today with a record 2,000,000 continuous man-hours of production without lost time from accidents.

William A. Mulvenna, Schmidt safety engineer, said employes achieved 2,000,000 consecutive man-hours without a disabling injury during the period from June 30, 1954, to July 29, 1955.

THE COMPANY'S unbroken safety record, now in its 14th month, was hailed by Edward V. Lahey of the United States Brewers' Foundation as "the grandest performance ever in the brewing industry."

"Your wonderful performance is inspiring to the industry and knowledge of working under such safe conditions must be reassuring to every employe," Lahey said in his telegram of congratulations to Schmidt officials. "Keep the banner flying."

The record-smashing safety performance was the second established by Schmidt employes this year. National, state and local honors were heaped upon the company last spring in recognition of having rolled up more than 1,000,000 accident-free man-hours of production.

In a special bulletin addressed to the entire brewing industry, the Brewers' Foundation declared "another great Philadelphia story" has been enacted at Schmidt's. The company and its employes promoted a program that in seven years has progressed from a record of 39 lost-time injuries to the perfect record with no disabling injuries in a full year of operation.

"This brilliant run, which is by far the grandest safety performance ever in the brewing industry, started on July 1, 1954, and is now about to enter its fourteenth month," the bulletin stated.

"THE COMPANY attributes its successful program to the enthusiastic support it receives from every employe. William Mulvenna, its able safety engineer, echoes this sentiment, but hastens to add that the intense top management interest is the foundation for the accomplishment. Its success should inspire the entire brewing industry to produce comparable results."

The industry seeks to reduce its over-all accident frequency rate from 17.9 per million man-hours in 1954 to 15 in 1955, the bulletin explained.

Cola President Helps Church Schools in Will

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 16 (AP)—Three southern church-related schools and two Mobile churches will benefit from the will of the late Walter D. Bellingrath, wealthy president of the Mobile Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

His will, filed in Probate Court yesterday, left the bulk of his estate to the Bellingrath-Morse Foundation for the care of Bellingrath Gardens.

The foundation will distribute the annual net income from the gardens as follows:

Southwestern College, Memphis, Tenn., a Presbyterian school, 40 per cent; Huntingdon College, Montgomery, Ala., a Methodist school, 20 per cent; Central Presbyterian Church, 15 per cent; St. Francis Street Methodist Church, 15 per cent, and Stillman College, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Presbyterian School for Negroes, 10 per cent. Lesser amounts will go to a few individuals.

Bellingrath, who died August 8 at 86, was worth several million dollars.

Arrives at Home

Milton, Pa., Aug. 16 (AP)—Maj. William Baumer's friends welcomed him back to Pennsylvania last night with a parade, gifts, speeches and plenty of good old fashioned hand shakes. Some 10,000 persons crowded into the center of this gaily decorated central Pennsylvania community to cheer the flier, recently released from a Chinese Communist prison camp after 2½ years of captivity. Baumer, who rode in a convertible during the parade and rested mostly on his crutches, accepted $750 worth of U. S. savings bonds.

China and India Wealth Contrast Is Interesting

New Delhi, Aug. 16 (AP)—How do the world's two most populous countries — one a democracy, the other Communist—stack up in developing their long neglected economies?

The outcome of this contest between democratic India and Communist China will be significant in Asia and possibly elsewhere.

THE CHINESE, by publishing previously secret figures on their "first five year plan," have provided a basis for comparison with India's "five year plan."

India, thanks to development started under British rule, seems to have had a head start at the beginning of the five-year plan period. China, which can push ahead without the legal obstacles democratic India must face, has set a more ambitious plan.

STEEL IS one field where China is starting in front. The Reds claim a production of 1,350,000 tons annually in 1952, at the start of their five year plan. They are setting a target of 4,120,000 tons by 1957.

India, when its plan began in 1951, produced 980,000 tons of steel. By 1956 New Delhi hopes to have an output of more than 1½ million tons a year. It also expects to have enough steel mills under construction to boost the amount to six million tons by 1961.

IN ANOTHER KEY basic industry, India started with an output of 3,280,000 tons of cement, electricity, India plans to boost its kilowatts at the start of the plan—by 50 per cent. China plans to double its original capacity of 1,450,000 kilowatts.

India mined 32,307,000 tons of coal in 1951 and figures its output will increase to about 36 millions in 1956. China, starting from an annual production of 63,530,000 tons, has set its sights on 113 millions tons.

WITH MANY more persons to feed, China must produce much more grain than India. However, Indian achievements in agriculture seem to be brighter than China's. The Communists are hoping for a boost from about 160 million tons annually to 193 millions. India programmed an increase from 54 million tons annually to 61,600,000 tons in 1956; but it surpassed this target by growing 65,400,000 tons in 1954.

In cotton, China is planning a 25.4 per cent increase while India has set an increase of more than 40 per cent. Other comparison figures are not available.

China has impressive plans for building roads and railways. India, which inherited good communications from the British, is concentrating on improvements rather than expansions.

Holds Bank Guilty

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Surrogate George Frankenthaler has held the Bankers Trust Co. guilty of "wrongful and fraudulent" conduct in its administration of the six million dollar estate of tobacco manufacturer Leon Schinasi. Frankenthaler ruled yesterday that fees of more than $100,000 which the bank received as executor of the will would be disallowed. Denying that any fraud had been committed, the bank asked for permission to discontinue its connections with the estate. Frankenthaler granted the request.

An agency that specializes in helping families after they get in a financial mess estimates that 10 million families are pinched by the debts they've piled up with overenthusiasm.

THE QUALITY of some instalment loans in recent months worries administration officials. Terms have been getting easier—down payments lower, maturity times extended.

This has been due largely to sales competition. Almost all kinds of consumer goods are in abundant supply. To move them, merchants and dealers have been luring customers by making payments smaller—extending them over more months, but making total interest charges higher in the long run.

This widens markets greatly and keeps the business boom rolling. Those who can't afford cash can stretch weekly paychecks over easy payments. A man who figures he can afford a low-priced car may buy a higher price one if told that payments can be made so easy the monthly sum is about the same he'd expected to pay on the lower priced car.

HOW DO PEOPLE get in over their depth? Silver Shield, an organization that makes a business of trying to help people who find they can't meet their payments—and charges 10 per cent for doing it — says that most of them just didn't realize they were taking on so much debt.

Modern merchandising puts such emphasis on the time payment sales and makes credit look so easy that a family lacking sound money judgment just eases into debt before it knows it.

Others are victims of illness or reduced income because of loss of overtime or from layoffs.

THE FIRST thing Silver Shield asks such a family is if one or more members are willing to take on an extra job to get more income to pay off the debts—and meet the added 10 per cent fee. If they aren't, there's nothing much that can be done for them.

The great majority of Americans, fortunately, are in need of no such service. And finance companies and bankers have assured the administration that from now on they'll be looking more closely to see if loan applicants are credit-worthy.

St. Paul Is Flagship

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 16 (AP)—The heavy cruiser St. Paul, recently arrived from its home port of Long Beach, Calif., today became the flagship of the U. S. 7th Fleet. The El Dorado, fleet flagship since early May, is returning to the United States.

Brewing Industry Safety Records

C. Schmidt & Sons, Inc., Philadelphia brewers, was leading the American brewing industry in safety achievements today with a record 2,000,000 continuous man-hours of production without lost time from accidents.

William A. Mulvenna, Schmidt safety engineer, said employes achieved 2,000,000 consecutive man-hours without a disabling injury during the period from June 30, 1954, to July 29, 1955.

THE COMPANY'S unbroken safety record, now in its 14th month, was hailed by Edward V. Lahey of the United States Brewers' Foundation as "the grandest performance ever in the brewing industry."

"Your wonderful performance is inspiring to the industry and knowledge of working under such safe conditions must be reassuring to every employe," Lahey said in his telegram of congratulations to Schmidt officials. "Keep the banner flying."

The record-smashing safety performance was the second established by Schmidt employes this year. National, state and local honors were heaped upon the company last spring in recognition of having rolled up more than 1,000,000 accident-free man-hours of production.

In a special bulletin addressed to the entire brewing industry, the Brewers' Foundation declared "another great Philadelphia story" has been enacted at Schmidt's. The company and its employes promoted a program that in seven years has progressed from a record of 39 lost-time injuries to the perfect record with no disabling injuries in a full year of operation.

"This brilliant run, which is by far the grandest safety performance ever in the brewing industry, started on July 1, 1954, and is now about to enter its fourteenth month," the bulletin stated.

"THE COMPANY attributes its successful program to the enthusiastic support it receives from every employe. William Mulvenna, its able safety engineer, echoes this sentiment, but hastens to add that the intense top management interest is the foundation for the accomplishment. Its success should inspire the entire brewing industry to produce comparable results."

The industry seeks to reduce its over-all accident frequency rate from 17.9 per million man-hours in 1954 to 15 in 1955, the bulletin explained.

Cola President Helps Church Schools in Will

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 16 (AP)—Three southern church-related schools and two Mobile churches will benefit from the will of the late Walter D. Bellingrath, wealthy president of the Mobile Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

His will, filed in Probate Court yesterday, left the bulk of his estate to the Bellingrath-Morse Foundation for the care of Bellingrath Gardens.

The foundation will distribute the annual net income from the gardens as follows:

Southwestern College, Memphis, Tenn., a Presbyterian school, 40 per cent; Huntingdon College, Montgomery, Ala., a Methodist school, 20 per cent; Central Presbyterian Church, 15 per cent; St. Francis Street Methodist Church, 15 per cent, and Stillman College, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Presbyterian School for Negroes, 10 per cent. Lesser amounts will go to a few individuals.

Bellingrath, who died August 8 at 86, was worth several million dollars.

Arrives at Home

Milton, Pa., Aug. 16 (AP)—Maj. William Baumer's friends welcomed him back to Pennsylvania last night with a parade, gifts, speeches and plenty of good old fashioned hand shakes. Some 10,000 persons crowded into the center of this gaily decorated central Pennsylvania community to cheer the flier, recently released from a Chinese Communist prison camp after 2½ years of captivity. Baumer, who rode in a convertible during the parade and rested mostly on his crutches, accepted $750 worth of U. S. savings bonds.

China and India Wealth Contrast Is Interesting

New Delhi, Aug. 16 (AP)—How do the world's two most populous countries — one a democracy, the other Communist—stack up in developing their long neglected economies?

The outcome of this contest between democratic India and Communist China will be significant in Asia and possibly elsewhere.

THE CHINESE, by publishing previously secret figures on their "first five year plan," have provided a basis for comparison with India's "five year plan."

India, thanks to development started under British rule, seems to have had a head start at the beginning of the five-year plan period. China, which can push ahead without the legal obstacles democratic India must face, has set a more ambitious plan.

STEEL IS one field where China is starting in front. The Reds claim a production of 1,350,000 tons annually in 1952, at the start of their five year plan. They are setting a target of 4,120,000 tons by 1957.

India, when its plan began in 1951, produced 980,000 tons of steel. By 1956 New Delhi hopes to have an output of more than 1½ million tons a year. It also expects to have enough steel mills under construction to boost the amount to six million tons by 1961.

IN ANOTHER KEY basic industry, India started with an output of 3,280,000 tons of cement, electricity, India plans to boost its kilowatts at the start of the plan—by 50 per cent. China plans to double its original capacity of 1,450,000 kilowatts.

India mined 32,307,000 tons of coal in 1951 and figures its output will increase to about 36 millions in 1956. China, starting from an annual production of 63,530,000 tons, has set its sights on 113 millions tons.

WITH MANY more persons to feed, China must produce much more grain than India. However, Indian achievements in agriculture seem to be brighter than China's. The Communists are hoping for a boost from about 160 million tons annually to 193 millions. India programmed an increase from 54 million tons annually to 61,600,000 tons in 1956; but it surpassed this target by growing 65,400,000 tons in 1954.

In cotton, China is planning a 25.4 per cent increase while India has set an increase of more than 40 per cent. Other comparison figures are not available.

China has impressive plans for building roads and railways. India, which inherited good communications from the British, is concentrating on improvements rather than expansions.

Holds Bank Guilty

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Surrogate George Frankenthaler has held the Bankers Trust Co. guilty of "wrongful and fraudulent" conduct in its administration of the six million dollar estate of tobacco manufacturer Leon Schinasi. Frankenthaler ruled yesterday that fees of more than $100,000 which the bank received as executor of the will would be disallowed. Denying that any fraud had been committed, the bank asked for permission to discontinue its connections with the estate. Frankenthaler granted the request.

POWER BOOM AHEAD

Anyone who doubts that nuclear power is on the verge of a tremendous boom had better take another look at the evidence. Here are two items of information that tell something about the potential.

In the United States, it is estimated, private industry and the atomic energy commission will spend half a billion dollars within the next five years to develop the atom as a source of power.

Worldwide, there is substantial atomic development work in at least 32 nations. The Atomic Industrial Forum reports that 42 nuclear reactors already exist, 20 more are under construction, and close to 50 others are planned.

Such figures give little real idea of the vast development to come. Says Fortune magazine:

'To provide the world with even one-half as much energy, per capita, as the United States enjoys, would require an investment of billions of dollars a year for as long as the world population continues to expand."

Yet the mere existence of this vast market for nuclear power does not mean that it is going to be supplied. First we need a rising level of world prosperity, and the absence of full-scale war.

Atomic power itself may help to bring about both of these. As backward regions get power, prosperity is bound to rise. And if the world concentrates on building nuclear reactors instead of bombs, the basic economic reasons for war may be done away with.

STOUTER FOOTWORK

More Americans than ever before, adults as well as children, are riding bicycles these days. This ought to please the bike manufacturers. They like the idea. But they are groaning because too many of two-wheelers are made in England, France, Germany and Austria.

American bicycle manufacturers say they are suffering great hardship because a low tariff permits a flood of foregn bikes to enter the country. They want a big boost in the tariff. The U. S. Tariff Commission, which turned down such a plea three years ago, now has urged President Eisenhower to triple the duty on imported bikes.

The Tariff Commission however, is not infallible. The President, who strongly believes in freer trade to strengthen international accord, may find good reasons to deny the request for more tariff protection.

Actually, the bicycle industry may not be doing too poorly. There is good reason to believe that what it needs is not more tariff protection but more vigorous effort to compete with the light-weight, three-speed, foreign bicycles that have become so popular.

Barron's, that old and respected financial weekly, put the matter flippantly but well:

"In an uphill stretch a push from Washington would undoubtedly be welcome. But the surest way to reach the top, as nobody should know better than the bike makers, is by leaning hard on the pedals."

How can time go so slowly in the two weeks before vacation and then accelerate to such a rapid rate in the next two weeks?

WHAT IS A FARM?

What is an American farm like? The U. S. Information Agency is trying to tell the world and having a difficult time of it.

A farm in this broad land is a 10,000-acre ranch where beef cattle are produced by a combination of cowboy techniques and modern production and marketing methods. A farm is 160 rocky New England acres that produce chickens, hay, apples and maple syrup. A farm is a dairy spread on the outskirts of a great city, a cotton plantation in the deep South, a corn-hog operation in Iowa.

A farm is many other things, so many that the USIA broadcasts tell of seven types ranging from subsistence farming to wheat production. Listeners abroad are getting one more chapter in the story that says the United States is a big country inhabited by a vigorous people who make good use of unparalleled natural resources.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A BILL TO END A BICKER

S. 2671 is a minor measure that packed a big wallop. It was a routine measure to authorize payment of salary to a Commissioner of the Atomic Energy Commission, but Section 3, contained this clause:

"Each member of the Commission, including the Chairman, shall have equal responsibility and authority in all decisions and actions of the Commission, shall have full access to all information relating to the performance of his duties or responsibilities, and shall have one vote."

This Act is now law and there can be no excuse for the withholding of AEC information from the AEC.

Unless Congress wishes to reorganize the Atomic Energy Commission, providing for a principal officer, the Executive must abide by the law. It is not a good example for the country when the Executive employs subterfuges to get around the law. Under our Constitution, it is Congress not the Executive that passes laws, that authorizes the organization of such Commissions as the AEC, that places limitations upon them. Even the Department of Defense, which rides roughshod over Congress so often, came into existence only by an Act of Congress and can go out of existence by an Act of Congress whenever Congress chooses to pass a new law on the subject.

While the Department of Defense is correct from every standpoint in its desire to get out of business which should be the function of private enterprise, Congress has every constitutional right to determine what the policy of the United States should be and whoever says that it is unconstitutional for the Congress to do what the Constitution clearly provides it should do, makes government by law impossible. He also makes the orderly processes of government difficult. It ought to be obligatory for all top officials at least to read the Constitution. Too many officials look upon Congress as a Board of Directors carrying out the will of a powerful Chairman. To prevent that is why the Founding Fathers separated Congress from the Executive.

The AEC has become a bickering body when what it should be is a production agency. The quarrels between Lewis L. Strauss and Thomas E. Murray, now altogether out in public, are ridiculous and have no place in American affairs. The fact that one is a Republican and the other a Democrat, one an Eisenhower appointee and the other a Truman holdover, has nothing to do with the production and use of atomic energy.

Both are men of high quality, of sincerity, of rare ability, devoted to the work they are doing. Strauss was a banker; Murray an engineer. Both are men of wealth who are serving their government at considerable sacrifice. They do not even differ on matters of principle. Theirs is a personality clash, arising out of Strauss's assumption that he, as Chairman, is the principal officer and head of the AEC. The law does not provide for such a position but makes all Commissioners equal. If Congress intended to change the law, it would have done so under the heavy pressure from the White House, which it resisted.

The Dixon-Yates situation brought this conflict to a head. It is now clear from testimony before Congressional committees that Murray was not kept informed as to the Dixon-Yates development step-by-step although he, as an equal Commissioner, was supposed to have a voice in any actions of the AEC. Had Dixon-Yates gone ahead comfortably, without any trouble, the question of the authority and responsibility of the other Commissioners would not have attracted so much attention. But Dixon-Yates was handled so amateurishly by the White House—whoever manager it there—that the bickerings in the AEC became a question of national significance.

Undoubtedly it came to a head when the story was published in the newspapers, in a variety of forms, that Strauss asked Murray to resign. This never happened. At most Strauss took the position that if he, Strauss, could not agree with the policy of the President, he, Strauss, would get out. Murray could have interpreted it as a suggestion.

The AEC is not part of the Executive. It is an independent agency of government, responsible to Congress, and over which Congress has appointed a watch-dog committee. A Commissioner is expected to be guided by the law and his conscience, not by the policy of the President.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DISEASE OF THE TONSILS

Although we have known for a long time that the tonsils are important structures whose diseases must be combated either by medicine or surgery, we still do not know exactly what their work is. The general opinion is that when tonsillitis (inflammation of tonsils) occurs, it is a secondary infection. That means that the actual port of entry of the infection is elsewhere in the body, outside the tonsils, and the tonsils are thought to "gather up" this infection and let it slowly be thrown out of the body in small amounts. Enlargement of the tonsils may result from infection but they grow larger normally until children are about five years old. The removal of these organs (along with the adenoids) although still a common childhod operation, is no longer considered essential in every case. Many boys and girls are never troubled by their tonsils or adenoids in any way.

One of the important newer trends in treating disease of the tonsils is the use of the antibiotics such as penicillin, streptomycin, aureomycin, terramycin and chloromycetin which are the most widely used. These have produced good results in most cases of acute tonsillitis. In order to avoid the too-common or too careless use of antibiotics, it is recommended that the physician test the bacteria to see to which of the antibiotics it is likely to respond to. This will shorten the course of the disease and improve the outlook for the patient.

Treatment of tonsillitis by medicine applies mainly to the acute form of this disease and treatment of the chronic form more often calls for surgery. For chronic cold with swelling and enlargement of the mucus membrane or lining of the nose and throat, tonsillectomy is the wisest treatment as a rule. However, the trend is away from the removal of tonsils as physicians are aware of their possible role as protective devices against development of disease.

Symptoms that used to be blamed on the tonsils such as frequent colds, throat infections, rheumatic pains, swallowing, breathing or hearing difficulties; loss of weight and general run-down conditions may instead be due to other causes than infected tonsils.

As we have mentioned before there seems to be a greater risk of contracting the paralytic type of polio in patients who have had their tonsils removed than in those who have not so the operation is not likely to be performed during polio season or while the child has a cold or sore throat or at any time when a general infection seems to be going around.

Treatment by X-ray has proved to be an ideal substitute for tonsillectomy in cases which are either temporarily or permanently unsuited to surgery, such as in children with heart failure or severe forms of allergy. This treatment, of course, should be given by a qualified X-ray specialist.

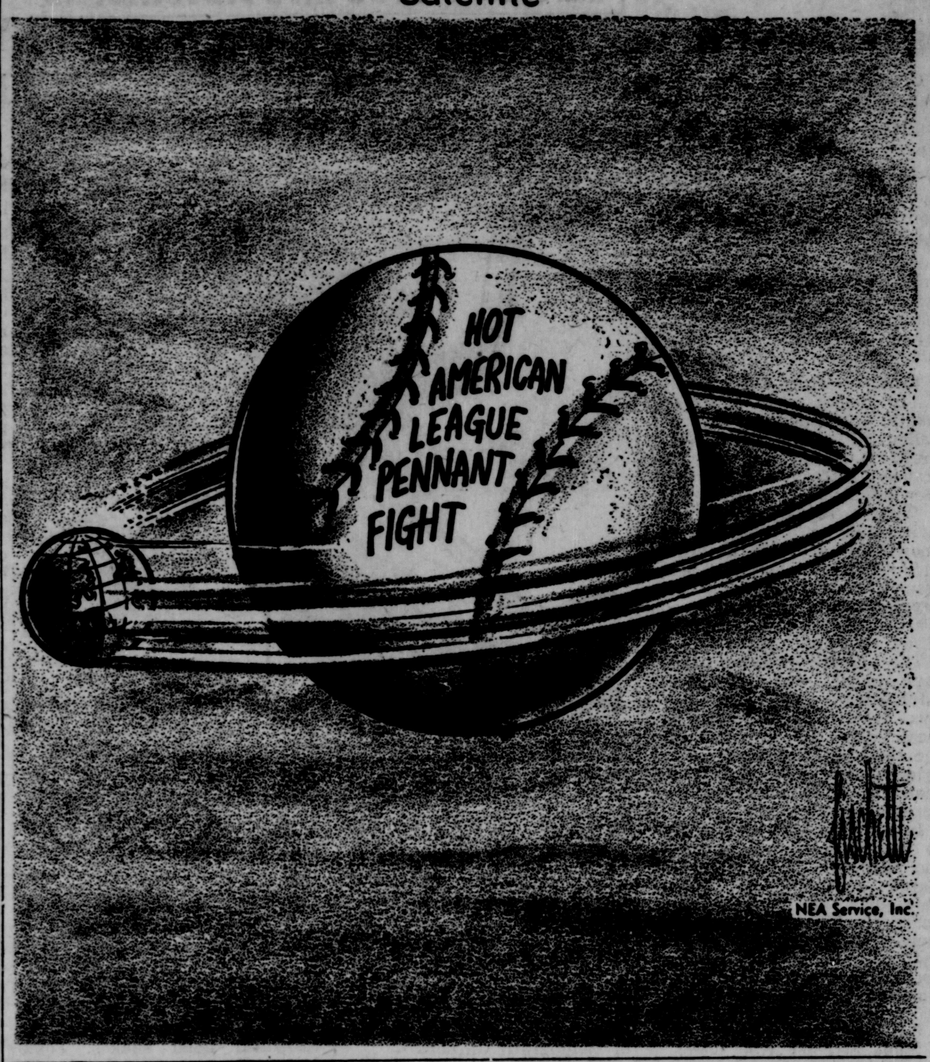

Although no operation is free of all danger, removal of tonsils and adenoids is ordinarily considered a minor procedure. With soft diet and bed rest, most children are up and about within a few days. Until they have been checked once by the doctor, however, they should not be allowed to become too active and fatigue should be avoided.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA) — Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell's petition to have the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers declared a Communist-infiltrated organization will probably go the full route to the Supreme Court for final decision.

This is the first test case under the Communist Control Act, passed by Congress with such a lot of whoopla a year ago. It was designed to drive the commies out of labor unions in a hurry. It may take a couple of years more to get in action.

The case against Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers—which has had American copper mining tied up by strikes since early July—will be heard promptly by Subversive Activities Control Board, says Chairman Thomas J. Herbert, former Ohio governor. But the due pocesses of the law have to be observed, and they take time.

Just which one of the SACB members will hear the case as trial examiner has not been decided. Filing of the complaint against the union by Department of Justice at this particular time catches SACB in an uncertain position as to its membership.

THE TERM OF SACB member Watson B. Miller expired March 4, Ex-Rep. John S. Wood (D.-Ga.), former House Un-American Activities Committee chairman, was appointed by President Eisenhower to fill the vacancy. But the Senate balked on confirming Judge Wood, and there was some possibility that his name would be withdrawn if unconfirmed before Congressional adjournment.

The terms of SACB members David J. Coddaire (R.) and Kathryn McHale (D.) expired Aug. 9.

SACB could be left with only two members.

Member Harry P. Cain, Republican ex-Senator from Washington, is scheduled to open hearings on the Washington Pension Union front case at Seattle in September.

CHAIRMAN HERBERT WILL SOON conclude hearings on the American May Day Committee front case. The Mine-Mill case, as it's called for short, might therefore fall to his lot.

Mine-Mill has long been charged with being under the domination of Communist officers.

The union was kicked out of CIO for commie activities. It has since been seeking to reaffiliate—with anybody.

It is a pet of the Daily Worker and its resolutions follow the commie line. But its Communist affiliatiins will have to be proved by trial.

Mine-Mill is the 17th case to come before SACB since it was created by law in 1950.

The most important is the case against the American Communist Party itself. After long hearings, SACB ordered the party to register with the attorney general as a subversive organization and disclose its membership.

This finding was sustained by U. S. Court of Appeals, which also declared the Subversive Activities Control Law constitutional. This opinion is now before the U. S. Supreme Court on appeal. It will probably to set for hearing this fall.

THE OTHER 15 CASES brought before SACB thus far all deal with Communist fronts. Five are awaiting hearings, four are in progress, four have been dismissed for lack of evidence and two have been found to be Communist fronts. They are the Labor Youth League and Jefferson School for Social Science.

The relatively poor showing in these cases against the fronts is in part due to the fact that the attorney general's list of some 300 Communist and Fascist organizations is out of date. Many of the fronts have been disbanded and no evidence can be produced to show they still operate.

It has taken SACB five years to reach this stage in the American due process effort to outlaw the Communist conspiracy.

But with the Communist Party and the Mine-Mill cases run through the Supreme Court hurdles, SACB Chairman Herbert believes future cases can be handled much faster.

'McCarthyism' Issue Brought Back to Life in ADA Speech

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 16 — Just about the time that almost everybody has been in a mood to lay aside "McCarthyism" as a political issue, the "Americans for Democratic Action"—an organization of "left wing" radicals who have an influential part in managing the Democratic party and picking its presidential candidates—has brought the issue back to life.

Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., national chairman of the ADA, in a public address, claims credit for his organization in initiating the fight against Senator McCarthy, "both the man and his ism," and is exultant because, as he puts it, the Wisconsin senator is now "Washington's forgotten man." What the ADA chief says, however, in the rest of his speech indicates that he would be happy if the whole anti-Communist quest in Washington and the intensive search for security risks and disloyal employes in the government would also be forgotten. This is what most people who have been concerned about the anti-Communist crusade, and not necessarily with any of the personalities in Congress, have feared would happen this year. There is ample evidence that the Democratic party in Congress is very anxious to soft-pedal any further revelations concerning the Democratic administrations lest they furnish to the Republicans political ammunition for the stump.

THERE IS, as Mr. Rauh says, a difference between the atmosphere of 1953 and 1955, which are the two years contrasted by him. There is even a difference between 1955 and 1954, when the Democratic party got control of Congress.

The difference, so far as the executive branch of the government is concerned, is that the Eisenhower administration is quietly getting rid of many persons who were employed by the previous administrations and who have been found to be "security risks." There has been no publicity as to individuals except in rare cases, but one of them operated for four years under the Truman administration and stole secrets from the confidential code office known as the National Security Agency, and turned them over to a European government. He is now in jail. Had there been such an efficient checking job done under the Truman administration, Klaus Fuchs might not have escaped detection.

THE ADA CHAIRMAN speaks of 1953 and 1954 as the "era of Oppenheimer" and others, but the Republicans—and particularly Vice President Nixon, if he campaigns again—probably would like nothing better than to set all the facts from the sworn testimony in the Oppenheimer case before the American voters next time if the Democrats want to make that an issue. The ADA fears Nixon. Some of its supporters are behind the effort to persuade President Eisenhower to drop him from the ticket next year. The "Left Wingers" have never forgiven Nixon for what he did as a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to expose Alger Hiss.

There is also in the speech by Mr. Rauh an attack on Attorney General Brownell who, the speaker asserts, "appears to have been relegated to political limbo" because in November 1953 he is supposed to have accused "a former President of the United States of 'knowingly' promoting a Soviet spy."

Maybe the ADA would like to have the case of the late Harry Dexter White relegated to "political limbo." But there are plenty of stump speakers who can still ask questions, and one of them will be why a former President of the United States, after having been warned by the head of the FBI and by officials in his own cabinet against letting the nomination of White as U. S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund remain on the Senate calendar not only refused to withdraw it but, over a period of 14 months, subsequently wrote two separate letters to Harry Dexter White praising him for his service. When a House committee attempted to get Mr. Truman's testimony on these points, he refused to appear. Exactly what Attorney General Brownell said in his first speech on November 6, 1953, was this:

"HARRY DEXTER White was a Russian spy. He smuggled secret documents to Russian agents for transmission to Moscow. Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him to the most sensitive and important position he ever held in government service."

Mr. Rauh forgot that only a few weeks ago the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee under the chairmanship of Senator Eastland, Democrat, revealed from the diary of the then secretary of the treasury facts concerning the influential part played by White in governmental affairs, though the treasury head himself knew nothing at the time about White's associations. Attorney General Brownell's statement is based on FBI files. Official statements summarizing the case now are a matter of public record. It certainly will not make a good political issue for the Democratic party, even if the ADA would like to revive the controversy.

The ADA chairman also complains in his speech because the House Committee on Un-American Activities has been permitted by the Eisenhower administration to examine income-tax returns in what Mr. Rauh describes as a "drive to uncover 'secret angels' of the Communist party." One wonders why the ADA spokesman is solicitous about the rights of "secret angels" and whether the ADA wants to proclaim a new doctrine—that the Bill of Rights supersedes or nullifies those clauses in the Constitution which authorize Congress and the executive to provide for the safety of the Republic against foreign infiltration and possible treason.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Geneva — The January issue of the ILO News, the official monthly journal of the International Labor Office, contained on page one, two articles of personal ballyhoo for David A. Morse, the hicogalorum of this socialistic subsidiary of the United Nations. Morse is a veteran bureaucrat of the Roosevelt-Truman regime held over into the off-Republican Eisenhower extension.

The two articles honor Mr. Morse with lavish recognition of the great efforts of his bureaucracy. One is headed "The ILO and Technical Assistance." It carries a Geneva dateline with a parenthetical attribution to ILO News, which is actually not a news service at all but Morse's publicity office in the same beautiful palace in a setting of beautiful gardens and lawns hard by a bathing beach. This says that in a year-end statement, Morse noted a trend toward "larger, long-range projects of technical assistance to the less-developed countries." The story adds up to about three tabloid columns, mostly direct quote from Mr. Morse.

The middle of page one is occupied by a group news photo entitled "press conference at which Director-General David A. Morse (facing newsmen) informed Geneva Press Corps about the agenda for the ILO's first European regional conference."

Just beneath this picture is Morse's own New Year message to mankind. It says that after 36 years under the old League of Nations and the United Nations, "the basic problem" of ILO still is "to get the facts."

"The ILO has certain facilities," he wrote, "which can be of substantial assistance in finding the truth upon which wise decisions may be laid.

"I wish everyone a peaceful and prosperous New Year."

There is a small reprint from the Akron Beacon-Journal to the effect that the annual cost to Americans of the ILO is only .88 of one cent.

Page two has a big group photo of the ILO "governing body" with Pius XII and a translation of the Apostolic blessing. The ILO offers reprints on request. The "governing body" went to Rome for a conference with itself. An informal group shot shows J. Ernest Wilkins, a Chicago attorney, selected by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell to succeed Spencer Miller, who had been fired from the job of assistant secretary of labor. Miller was canned for exposing and trying to destroy the clandestine power of David Dubinsky's political stooge, Jay Lovestone, a Communist of the most brutal declared purposes, in the appointment of "labor attaches" in American embassies all over the world.

Dubinsky and Lovestone have mysterious relations with the Central Intelligence Agency, now operated by Allen Dulles, which flopped wretchedly in its duty of obtaining information of all kinds about Soviet Russia. Lovestone quit the Kremlin Reds to work for a Soviet America through his own party bearing his own name. Miller finally reported his knowledge of Lovestone's activities to the FBI. Wilkins has a son in the Department of Justice. Wilkins, a Negro, unwarily endorsed racism in employment and political preferment when he said his own selection was an "honor" to his race.

The "UN anniversary issue" of Morse's personal House-organ really went to town for the hicogalorum. The top spread read "ILO hails UN's tenth anniversary: Director general sees much to be proud of, much still to be done if world ever is to have peace." Morse then swung out into space with an article under his name preceded by a note in blue ink authorizing reproduction of the great man's thoughts. He wrote that ten years "is a brief moment in the history of mankind's search for the 'good society.'"

There was a one-column cut of the hicogalorum's smiling visage and his message broke over to the last page with about four columns more. This issue contains a reminder, three columns long, that we pay less than one mill each per year to support ILO's "technical assistance program." There is also a photo and tribute to the late John G. Winant, Roosevelt's ambassador to London, who helped draw the lines of demarcation in Germany and recommended the surrender of our victory which Truman and Eisenhower later solemnized at Potsdam. Winant killed himself. He served a term in Morse's job of hicogalorum of the ILO.

There is also a picture of Mr. Mitchell, the secretary of labor, adorning a long article complaining that the American people knew little about the ILO. These commentaries are my effort to remedy that defect.

The ILO News publishes about 60,000 copies of each monthly issue in many languages. The press run for the anniversary number was 350,000.

POWER BOOM AHEAD

Anyone who doubts that nuclear power is on the verge of a tremendous boom had better take another look at the evidence. Here are two items of information that tell something about the potential.

In the United States, it is estimated, private industry and the atomic energy commission will spend half a billion dollars within the next five years to develop the atom as a source of power.

Worldwide, there is substantial atomic development work in at least 32 nations. The Atomic Industrial Forum reports that 42 nuclear reactors already exist, 20 more are under construction, and close to 50 others are planned.

Such figures give little real idea of the vast development to come. Says Fortune magazine:

'To provide the world with even one-half as much energy, per capita, as the United States enjoys, would require an investment of billions of dollars a year for as long as the world population continues to expand."

Yet the mere existence of this vast market for nuclear power does not mean that it is going to be supplied. First we need a rising level of world prosperity, and the absence of full-scale war.

Atomic power itself may help to bring about both of these. As backward regions get power, prosperity is bound to rise. And if the world concentrates on building nuclear reactors instead of bombs, the basic economic reasons for war may be done away with.

STOUTER FOOTWORK

More Americans than ever before, adults as well as children, are riding bicycles these days. This ought to please the bike manufacturers. They like the idea. But they are groaning because too many of two-wheelers are made in England, France, Germany and Austria.

American bicycle manufacturers say they are suffering great hardship because a low tariff permits a flood of foregn bikes to enter the country. They want a big boost in the tariff. The U. S. Tariff Commission, which turned down such a plea three years ago, now has urged President Eisenhower to triple the duty on imported bikes.

The Tariff Commission however, is not infallible. The President, who strongly believes in freer trade to strengthen international accord, may find good reasons to deny the request for more tariff protection.

Actually, the bicycle industry may not be doing too poorly. There is good reason to believe that what it needs is not more tariff protection but more vigorous effort to compete with the light-weight, three-speed, foreign bicycles that have become so popular.

Barron's, that old and respected financial weekly, put the matter flippantly but well:

"In an uphill stretch a push from Washington would undoubtedly be welcome. But the surest way to reach the top, as nobody should know better than the bike makers, is by leaning hard on the pedals."

How can time go so slowly in the two weeks before vacation and then accelerate to such a rapid rate in the next two weeks?

WHAT IS A FARM?

What is an American farm like? The U. S. Information Agency is trying to tell the world and having a difficult time of it.

A farm in this broad land is a 10,000-acre ranch where beef cattle are produced by a combination of cowboy techniques and modern production and marketing methods. A farm is 160 rocky New England acres that produce chickens, hay, apples and maple syrup. A farm is a dairy spread on the outskirts of a great city, a cotton plantation in the deep South, a corn-hog operation in Iowa.

A farm is many other things, so many that the USIA broadcasts tell of seven types ranging from subsistence farming to wheat production. Listeners abroad are getting one more chapter in the story that says the United States is a big country inhabited by a vigorous people who make good use of unparalleled natural resources.

'These Days'

A BILL TO END A BICKER

S. 2671 is a minor measure that packed a big wallop. It was a routine measure to authorize payment of salary to a Commissioner of the Atomic Energy Commission, but Section 3, contained this clause:

"Each member of the Commission, including the Chairman, shall have equal responsibility and authority in all decisions and actions of the Commission, shall have full access to all information relating to the performance of his duties or responsibilities, and shall have one vote."

This Act is now law and there can be no excuse for the withholding of AEC information from the AEC.

Unless Congress wishes to reorganize the Atomic Energy Commission, providing for a principal officer, the Executive must abide by the law. It is not a good example for the country when the Executive employs subterfuges to get around the law. Under our Constitution, it is Congress not the Executive that passes laws, that authorizes the organization of such Commissions as the AEC, that places limitations upon them. Even the Department of Defense, which rides roughshod over Congress so often, came into existence only by an Act of Congress and can go out of existence by an Act of Congress whenever Congress chooses to pass a new law on the subject.

While the Department of Defense is correct from every standpoint in its desire to get out of business which should be the function of private enterprise, Congress has every constitutional right to determine what the policy of the United States should be and whoever says that it is unconstitutional for the Congress to do what the Constitution clearly provides it should do, makes government by law impossible. He also makes the orderly processes of government difficult. It ought to be obligatory for all top officials at least to read the Constitution. Too many officials look upon Congress as a Board of Directors carrying out the will of a powerful Chairman. To prevent that is why the Founding Fathers separated Congress from the Executive.

The AEC has become a bickering body when what it should be is a production agency. The quarrels between Lewis L. Strauss and Thomas E. Murray, now altogether out in public, are ridiculous and have no place in American affairs. The fact that one is a Republican and the other a Democrat, one an Eisenhower appointee and the other a Truman holdover, has nothing to do with the production and use of atomic energy.

Both are men of high quality, of sincerity, of rare ability, devoted to the work they are doing. Strauss was a banker; Murray an engineer. Both are men of wealth who are serving their government at considerable sacrifice. They do not even differ on matters of principle. Theirs is a personality clash, arising out of Strauss's assumption that he, as Chairman, is the principal officer and head of the AEC. The law does not provide for such a position but makes all Commissioners equal. If Congress intended to change the law, it would have done so under the heavy pressure from the White House, which it resisted.

The Dixon-Yates situation brought this conflict to a head. It is now clear from testimony before Congressional committees that Murray was not kept informed as to the Dixon-Yates development step-by-step although he, as an equal Commissioner, was supposed to have a voice in any actions of the AEC. Had Dixon-Yates gone ahead comfortably, without any trouble, the question of the authority and responsibility of the other Commissioners would not have attracted so much attention. But Dixon-Yates was handled so amateurishly by the White House—whoever manager it there—that the bickerings in the AEC became a question of national significance.

Undoubtedly it came to a head when the story was published in the newspapers, in a variety of forms, that Strauss asked Murray to resign. This never happened. At most Strauss took the position that if he, Strauss, could not agree with the policy of the President, he, Strauss, would get out. Murray could have interpreted it as a suggestion.

The AEC is not part of the Executive. It is an independent agency of government, responsible to Congress, and over which Congress has appointed a watch-dog committee. A Commissioner is expected to be guided by the law and his conscience, not by the policy of the President.

That Body of Yours

DISEASE OF THE TONSILS

Although we have known for a long time that the tonsils are important structures whose diseases must be combated either by medicine or surgery, we still do not know exactly what their work is. The general opinion is that when tonsillitis (inflammation of tonsils) occurs, it is a secondary infection. That means that the actual port of entry of the infection is elsewhere in the body, outside the tonsils, and the tonsils are thought to "gather up" this infection and let it slowly be thrown out of the body in small amounts. Enlargement of the tonsils may result from infection but they grow larger normally until children are about five years old. The removal of these organs (along with the adenoids) although still a common childhod operation, is no longer considered essential in every case. Many boys and girls are never troubled by their tonsils or adenoids in any way.

One of the important newer trends in treating disease of the tonsils is the use of the antibiotics such as penicillin, streptomycin, aureomycin, terramycin and chloromycetin which are the most widely used. These have produced good results in most cases of acute tonsillitis. In order to avoid the too-common or too careless use of antibiotics, it is recommended that the physician test the bacteria to see to which of the antibiotics it is likely to respond to. This will shorten the course of the disease and improve the outlook for the patient.

Treatment of tonsillitis by medicine applies mainly to the acute form of this disease and treatment of the chronic form more often calls for surgery. For chronic cold with swelling and enlargement of the mucus membrane or lining of the nose and throat, tonsillectomy is the wisest treatment as a rule. However, the trend is away from the removal of tonsils as physicians are aware of their possible role as protective devices against development of disease.

Symptoms that used to be blamed on the tonsils such as frequent colds, throat infections, rheumatic pains, swallowing, breathing or hearing difficulties; loss of weight and general run-down conditions may instead be due to other causes than infected tonsils.

As we have mentioned before there seems to be a greater risk of contracting the paralytic type of polio in patients who have had their tonsils removed than in those who have not so the operation is not likely to be performed during polio season or while the child has a cold or sore throat or at any time when a general infection seems to be going around.

Treatment by X-ray has proved to be an ideal substitute for tonsillectomy in cases which are either temporarily or permanently unsuited to surgery, such as in children with heart failure or severe forms of allergy. This treatment, of course, should be given by a qualified X-ray specialist.

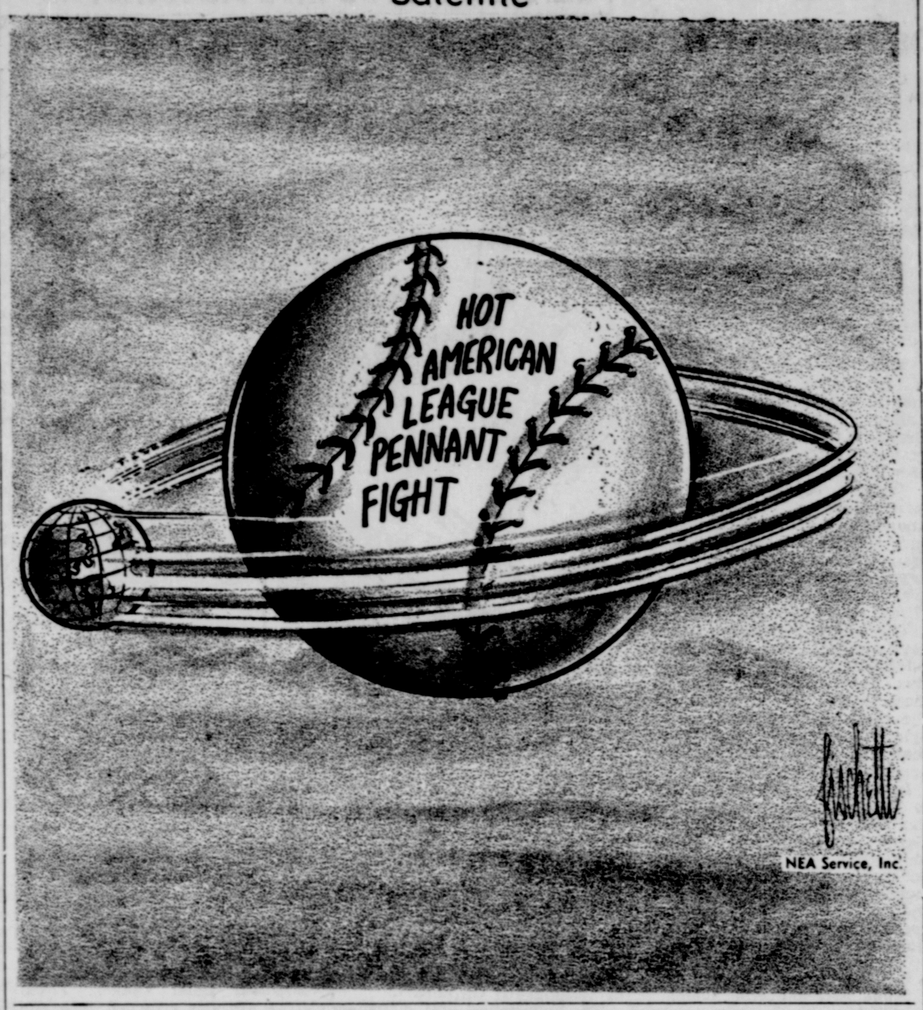

Although no operation is free of all danger, removal of tonsils and adenoids is ordinarily considered a minor procedure. With soft diet and bed rest, most children are up and about within a few days. Until they have been checked once by the doctor, however, they should not be allowed to become too active and fatigue should be avoided.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA) — Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell's petition to have the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers declared a Communist-infiltrated organization will probably go the full route to the Supreme Court for final decision.

This is the first test case under the Communist Control Act, passed by Congress with such a lot of whoopla a year ago. It was designed to drive the commies out of labor unions in a hurry. It may take a couple of years more to get in action.

The case against Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers—which has had American copper mining tied up by strikes since early July—will be heard promptly by Subversive Activities Control Board, says Chairman Thomas J. Herbert, former Ohio governor. But the due pocesses of the law have to be observed, and they take time.

Just which one of the SACB members will hear the case as trial examiner has not been decided. Filing of the complaint against the union by Department of Justice at this particular time catches SACB in an uncertain position as to its membership.

THE TERM OF SACB member Watson B. Miller expired March 4, Ex-Rep. John S. Wood (D.-Ga.), former House Un-American Activities Committee chairman, was appointed by President Eisenhower to fill the vacancy. But the Senate balked on confirming Judge Wood, and there was some possibility that his name would be withdrawn if unconfirmed before Congressional adjournment.

The terms of SACB members David J. Coddaire (R.) and Kathryn McHale (D.) expired Aug. 9.

SACB could be left with only two members.

Member Harry P. Cain, Republican ex-Senator from Washington, is scheduled to open hearings on the Washington Pension Union front case at Seattle in September.

CHAIRMAN HERBERT WILL SOON conclude hearings on the American May Day Committee front case. The Mine-Mill case, as it's called for short, might therefore fall to his lot.

Mine-Mill has long been charged with being under the domination of Communist officers.

The union was kicked out of CIO for commie activities. It has since been seeking to reaffiliate—with anybody.

It is a pet of the Daily Worker and its resolutions follow the commie line. But its Communist affiliatiins will have to be proved by trial.

Mine-Mill is the 17th case to come before SACB since it was created by law in 1950.

The most important is the case against the American Communist Party itself. After long hearings, SACB ordered the party to register with the attorney general as a subversive organization and disclose its membership.

This finding was sustained by U. S. Court of Appeals, which also declared the Subversive Activities Control Law constitutional. This opinion is now before the U. S. Supreme Court on appeal. It will probably to set for hearing this fall.

THE OTHER 15 CASES brought before SACB thus far all deal with Communist fronts. Five are awaiting hearings, four are in progress, four have been dismissed for lack of evidence and two have been found to be Communist fronts. They are the Labor Youth League and Jefferson School for Social Science.

The relatively poor showing in these cases against the fronts is in part due to the fact that the attorney general's list of some 300 Communist and Fascist organizations is out of date. Many of the fronts have been disbanded and no evidence can be produced to show they still operate.

It has taken SACB five years to reach this stage in the American due process effort to outlaw the Communist conspiracy.

But with the Communist Party and the Mine-Mill cases run through the Supreme Court hurdles, SACB Chairman Herbert believes future cases can be handled much faster.

'McCarthyism' Issue Brought Back to Life in ADA Speech

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 16 — Just about the time that almost everybody has been in a mood to lay aside "McCarthyism" as a political issue, the "Americans for Democratic Action"—an organization of "left wing" radicals who have an influential part in managing the Democratic party and picking its presidential candidates—has brought the issue back to life.

Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., national chairman of the ADA, in a public address, claims credit for his organization in initiating the fight against Senator McCarthy, "both the man and his ism," and is exultant because, as he puts it, the Wisconsin senator is now "Washington's forgotten man." What the ADA chief says, however, in the rest of his speech indicates that he would be happy if the whole anti-Communist quest in Washington and the intensive search for security risks and disloyal employes in the government would also be forgotten. This is what most people who have been concerned about the anti-Communist crusade, and not necessarily with any of the personalities in Congress, have feared would happen this year. There is ample evidence that the Democratic party in Congress is very anxious to soft-pedal any further revelations concerning the Democratic administrations lest they furnish to the Republicans political ammunition for the stump.

THERE IS, as Mr. Rauh says, a difference between the atmosphere of 1953 and 1955, which are the two years contrasted by him. There is even a difference between 1955 and 1954, when the Democratic party got control of Congress.

The difference, so far as the executive branch of the government is concerned, is that the Eisenhower administration is quietly getting rid of many persons who were employed by the previous administrations and who have been found to be "security risks." There has been no publicity as to individuals except in rare cases, but one of them operated for four years under the Truman administration and stole secrets from the confidential code office known as the National Security Agency, and turned them over to a European government. He is now in jail. Had there been such an efficient checking job done under the Truman administration, Klaus Fuchs might not have escaped detection.

THE ADA CHAIRMAN speaks of 1953 and 1954 as the "era of Oppenheimer" and others, but the Republicans—and particularly Vice President Nixon, if he campaigns again—probably would like nothing better than to set all the facts from the sworn testimony in the Oppenheimer case before the American voters next time if the Democrats want to make that an issue. The ADA fears Nixon. Some of its supporters are behind the effort to persuade President Eisenhower to drop him from the ticket next year. The "Left Wingers" have never forgiven Nixon for what he did as a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to expose Alger Hiss.

There is also in the speech by Mr. Rauh an attack on Attorney General Brownell who, the speaker asserts, "appears to have been relegated to political limbo" because in November 1953 he is supposed to have accused "a former President of the United States of 'knowingly' promoting a Soviet spy."

Maybe the ADA would like to have the case of the late Harry Dexter White relegated to "political limbo." But there are plenty of stump speakers who can still ask questions, and one of them will be why a former President of the United States, after having been warned by the head of the FBI and by officials in his own cabinet against letting the nomination of White as U. S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund remain on the Senate calendar not only refused to withdraw it but, over a period of 14 months, subsequently wrote two separate letters to Harry Dexter White praising him for his service. When a House committee attempted to get Mr. Truman's testimony on these points, he refused to appear. Exactly what Attorney General Brownell said in his first speech on November 6, 1953, was this:

"HARRY DEXTER White was a Russian spy. He smuggled secret documents to Russian agents for transmission to Moscow. Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him to the most sensitive and important position he ever held in government service."

Mr. Rauh forgot that only a few weeks ago the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee under the chairmanship of Senator Eastland, Democrat, revealed from the diary of the then secretary of the treasury facts concerning the influential part played by White in governmental affairs, though the treasury head himself knew nothing at the time about White's associations. Attorney General Brownell's statement is based on FBI files. Official statements summarizing the case now are a matter of public record. It certainly will not make a good political issue for the Democratic party, even if the ADA would like to revive the controversy.

The ADA chairman also complains in his speech because the House Committee on Un-American Activities has been permitted by the Eisenhower administration to examine income-tax returns in what Mr. Rauh describes as a "drive to uncover 'secret angels' of the Communist party." One wonders why the ADA spokesman is solicitous about the rights of "secret angels" and whether the ADA wants to proclaim a new doctrine—that the Bill of Rights supersedes or nullifies those clauses in the Constitution which authorize Congress and the executive to provide for the safety of the Republic against foreign infiltration and possible treason.

Russian Farmers To Leave Today For California

Chicago, Aug. 16 (AP)—The main group of Soviet farm delegates began their last day in the midwest today.

Ten of the 12 delegates are scheduled to fly this afternoon to San Francisco to begin a tour of California.

Two of the Russians, however, plan to remain in the midwest. They are specialists interested in farm machinery and they expect to visit farm machinery factories.

The head of the Soviet agricultural delegation, Vladimir Matskevich, last night declared at a press conference that the Soviet Union definitely wants to buy agricultural equipment.

The Soviet farm delegates today set out to visit the International Harvester plant here. It was the last item on their Chicago schedule—except for catching their plane at Midway Airport (2:50 p. m. EST) for the west coast.

AT LAST NIGHT'S press conference, Matskevich announced that movie actrees Marilyn Monroe had been invited to attend the Soviet Embassy reception next Monday night in Washington which is being give in honor of the Russian delegation.

In New York, Miss Monroe could not be reached for comment on the Soviet invitation.

Just how Marilyn Monroe got into th orbit of the travelling Russian farm bosses is not clear. But their interest in farm machinery was not obscure.

Matskevich mentioned two particular things which Russia wants: 1. Diesel tractors with attachments. 2. Machinery for small-scale operations on farms. Matskevich refused to commit himself on any definite figure of purchases, saying merely that Russia wishes as much "as it can afford" and that determination of any actual sum is outside his own competence.

HE MENTIONED two things which, he said, his delegation members had learned much about during their stay in the midwest.

1. American experience in mass production of hybird corn seed. 2. Mechanization on farms of small-scale farm processes, particularly those involving livestock.

Matskevich said at the press conference that the more Soviet people come to the United States and the more American people go to the Soviet Uuion "the better the understanding which will result between the two peoples."

He said that the new atmosphere arising out of Geneva had created a situation in which his delegation had become more than just an agricultural delegation gut had instead become a "public" delegation.

He declared that the reduction of the Sovied armed forces announced in Moscow yesterday is the direct result of more friendly relations which have come about as a result of the Geneva conference.

Legume Is Called Better Than Manure

Davis, Calif., Aug. 16 (AP)—A ploughed-under legume crop sometimes fertilizes soil better than barnyard manure, some of the country's leading soil and crop scientists were advised today.

Sweet clover outdid stable fertilizer in Michigan State University tests by J. R. Guttay, R. L. Cook and A. E. Erickson, they told the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy.

They based their report on comparative yields of navy beans, corn, sugar beets and smal grains.

THEY SAID sweet clover ploughed under every two years resulted in an increased row crop yield of 23 per cent and 10 tons of barnyard fertilizer per acre every two years increased yields only 5 per cent. The two ploughed under together increased yields an average of 28 per cent.

"This fact is important to the cash-crop farmer, who generally does not have livestock," they said.

Almost a fourth of the nitrogen in freshly cut ploughed-under alfalfa was recovered by a corn crop the same season at Ames, Iowa, two Iowa State College soil specialists said in a separate paper. The following season, said H. A. Fribourg and W. V. Bartholomew, only about 6 per cent of the nitrogen was recovered by a crop of oats.

OTHER GLEANINGS from papers being presented before the agronomists:

Crossing of sugar beets with wild relatives may produce strains resistant to nematodes.

Two new selective chemical weed killers look promising for controlling annual grass and broadleafed weeds without injuring corn, beans, onions and members of the cabbage family and may be released soon for farm use.

Cotton fields can be cleared of second-growth Johnson grass by applications of oil.

Douglas Welcomed Now

London, Aug. 16 (AP)—U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who used to be regarded by the Russians as a spy, was the subject of a friendly interview broadcast by Moscow Radio today. The jurist is touring the Soviet Union with Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Committee on Government operations. In 1949, when Douglas was mountain climbing in Turkey, Moscow Radio accused him of using that as a blind for spying on the Soviet Union. The Russians complained similarly in 1951 when he made a mountain trek along the Tibetan frontier.

Mail Halted to Co. On Religious Items

Miami, Fla., Aug. 16 (AP)—Postal authorities have halted mail deliveries to Ex-GI Plastics Co., a mail order firm that shipped unordered religious trinkets to Catholics all over the country.

Postmaster Samuel R. Valliere said yesterday he received a directive from Washington instructing him to halt mail addressed to the company operated by Benjamin and Henry Kram.

The directive also ordered postal employes to refuse payment on any money orders made out to the company.

Another brother, Max Kram, operates Catholic Products of America, which was not affected by the directive.

Have Doubt That Youth Authority Is Real Answer

Canton, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—Three specialists yesterday questioned the wisdom of Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits' proposal that a youth authority be established to deal with juvenile crime in New York state.

They were among 525 social welfare, mental hygiene, probation, parole and youth workers attending the sixth annual Frederick A. Moran Institute on Delinquency and Crime.

THE INSTITUTE at St. Lawrence University opened last night and will continue through Friday.

Edmond Fitzgerald, chief probation officer for Kings county; Dr. Frank T. Flynn, professor at the School of Social Service Administration, University of Chicago; and Miss Mazie R. Rappaport, a division supervisor in the Baltimore Department of Public Welfare, expressed doubt that a state youth authority was the answer to the problem.

Fitzgerald said it went "contrary to good public administration by creating another state agency, probably not needed."

Prof. Flynn said the youth authority plan received impetus in states where "a vacuum existed." He said California was an example that once had been "one of the most scandal-ridden states in the area of juvenile treatment."

Miss Rappaport said the youth authority would require considerable spending. She suggested that the money might be spent better on existing agencies to train personnel.

SHE PRAISED New York as one of the few states spending money on training people who work with children.

Fitzgerald said the incidence of delinquency was large and growing. But he said it was not out of proportion to our population. He added:

"People are more conscious of it from better reporting through the press and better methods of detection."

Vermont Inn Bakes Beans With Maple Syrup Flavor

GRAPE AND PEAR JAM on a hot homemade roll goes well with Rochester, Vt., Inn's special baked beans.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Leonta Quinne, Vermont, born, helps her husband run the Rochester Inn. It's in Rochester, Vermont, on the White River near the Green Mountain National Forest, on Route 100 off Route 4 from Rutland. Tom, her tall Vermonter husband says her beans baked with maple syrup are the best in the world. Her 21-year-old son, David, now in the navy writes from the Antarctic that he dreams of her grape and pear jam. Her two other sons, 10 and 16, as well as the guests at this country inn, vote her special jam their pin-up recipe of the year.

Mrs. Quinn met her husband when she was working in a restaurant, and he, a student at the University of Vermont, worked in the same place at night to help him finance his education.

Vermont Baked Beans
(Leonta Quinn Style)

One quart yellow eye beans—or soldier beans, 1 pound lean salt pork, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon ginger, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 cup Vermont maple syrup, 1 medium onion studded with 2 whole cloves.

Soak beans overnight, drain and parboil in water to cover until skins curl up when blown on. Put onion in bottom of bean pot 3-quart size. Fill with drained, parboiled beans. Make several slits in salt pork and lay on top of beans with the rind side up Combine other ingredients with enough water to cover beans. Bake covered at 300 to 325 degrees F. for about 8 hours.

Her grape and pear jam is made of ripe grapes and ripe pears and bottled liquid fruit pectin. She is writing down her recipe for us and we will run it next week.

Troops Making Ready For Arctic Radar Job

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The army said today 3,000 specially trained troops are nearing the destinations at which they will unload 200,000 tons of supplies for an Arctic radar network.

The equipment is for the distant early warning or "Dew" line, the northernmost radar net spanning the North American continent.

This radar net is a joint venture of the United States and Canada aimed at providing, when completed, early warning of any possible trans-polar air attack.

Army Transportation Corps units have been augmented by army engineers, quartermaster and chemical corps troops for the cargo handling operations, which will be done under constant hazards of fog, ice, and storm.

Two task forces, one working from the Atlantic side and the other from the Pacific, left Seattle, Wash., and Norfolk, Va., last month.

The Pacific task force will pass Point Barrow, Alaska, east bound this month and proceed through the Beaufort Sea into the Canadian Arctic dropping off men, equipment and small cargo vessels en route. The transports will have to be back into the Pacific by late September.

The Atlantic force is divided into two groups. One recently arrived on the coast of Baffin Bay and it will be joined shortly by the other. These two groups will be unloading along the Baffin coast until late September.

Wilson Company To Go Downtown In Chicago Area

Chicago, Aug. 16 (AP)—Wilson & Co., one of the nation's major meat packers, says it plans to stop all slaughtering operations at the Chicago stockyards.

The company said yesterday it was going to discontinue meat and food operations at the stockyards and will move its general offices from the yards to the downtown district.

President James D. Cooney said the company was starting "a substantial expansion and modernization of its plants in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Albert Lea, Minn., and Omaha." No date was announced for the company's withdrawal from the stockyards.

THE CHANGE will not affect the company's other plants at Los Angeles, Denver, Memphis, Oklahoma City and Kansas City, Kan.

Cooney said the Chicago plant has "sustained operating losses, primarily in its meat divisions, in each of the past several years." He said expenses were high and "an antiquated and time-worn structure has stood in the way of any substantial reduction in these expenses." Many of the buildings, he added, are more than 50 years old.

Cooney said it would cost about eight million dollars to rehabilitate the property and "such an investment would still be unlikely to yield a satisfactory return." He added the cost of expanding and modernizing the plants at Cadar Rapids, Albert Lea and Omaha will be "substantially less" than the amount needed to rehabilitate the Chicago plant.

COONEY SAID the main reasons for expanding the three plants were: Their good earnings record, their central location and their efficiency of operation.

Swift & Co., another major packer, halted hog slaughter in Chicago in 1952 but the firm processes pork here. It also slaughters cattle and sheep and has its headquarters in the stockyards district.

Swift kills hogs at other plants and the chilled carcasses are shipped to Chicago. The company also buys live hogs at Chicago and they are shipped to Swift plants in the east for slaughter.

Another big packer, Armour & Co., stopped slaughter of lambs and sheep in 1952 in Chicago. But the company has completed a modernization program at its Chicago hog slaughtering plant.

THE ORIGINAL company was founded in 1853 and for many years was known as Sulzberger and Sons Co. It was reorganized in 1916 and Thos. Wilson, president of Morris & Co., packers, was named to head the company which took the Wilson name.

Wilson has a large sporting goods business and also operates the Wilson Laboratories, the pharmaceutical division which recently moved into a new building.

Wilson currently has been killing about 800,000 hogs annually and less than 1,500 cattle a week. Some 3,000 Wilson employes will be affected by the shutdown in Chicago. Cooney said Wilson employs from 23,000 to 24,000 workers at all the company's plants.

Three Are Unhurt On Drifting Blimp

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP)—A damaged, runaway navy blimp was set down in a cornfield by three crew members last night after drifting helplessly for 15 miles.

None of the three civilian crewmen aboard the 350-foot airship was hurt as the craft came down in the field northwest of the naval air station here.

The trio managed to bring the blimp to earth by releasing helium. The craft had broken away from ground crews following an initial landing at the air station in which her landing gear and both propellers were smashed. Five of the crew jumped out to the station runway while the pilot, co-pilot and a mechanic stayed aboard to dump the ship's gasoline and water supply.

One was killed and the survivor is charged with murder. Kay Richardson, 22, the survivor and the man who liked the rifle, told authorities his arguments with 19-year-old Gerald Lee Wells began after an all night drinking bout. Wells died of a 30-30 rifle slug through his chest.

Rejects Racial Petition

Hoxie, Ark., Aug. 16 (AP)—A petition demanding that racial segregation be restored in the public schools was rejected last night by the Hoxie school board. Foes of integration immediately announced that they would present the board with petitions demanding that its members resign. The leader for the pro-segregation group, farmer Herbert Brewer, said the petitions bore the signatures of 1,063 school patrons.

Russian Farmers To Leave Today For California

Chicago, Aug. 16 (AP)—The main group of Soviet farm delegates began their last day in the midwest today.

Ten of the 12 delegates are scheduled to fly this afternoon to San Francisco to begin a tour of California.

Two of the Russians, however, plan to remain in the midwest. They are specialists interested in farm machinery and they expect to visit farm machinery factories.

The head of the Soviet agricultural delegation, Vladimir Matskevich, last night declared at a press conference that the Soviet Union definitely wants to buy agricultural equipment.

The Soviet farm delegates today set out to visit the International Harvester plant here. It was the last item on their Chicago schedule—except for catching their plane at Midway Airport (2:50 p. m. EST) for the west coast.

AT LAST NIGHT'S press conference, Matskevich announced that movie actrees Marilyn Monroe had been invited to attend the Soviet Embassy reception next Monday night in Washington which is being give in honor of the Russian delegation.

In New York, Miss Monroe could not be reached for comment on the Soviet invitation.

Just how Marilyn Monroe got into th orbit of the travelling Russian farm bosses is not clear. But their interest in farm machinery was not obscure.

Matskevich mentioned two particular things which Russia wants: 1. Diesel tractors with attachments. 2. Machinery for small-scale operations on farms. Matskevich refused to commit himself on any definite figure of purchases, saying merely that Russia wishes as much "as it can afford" and that determination of any actual sum is outside his own competence.

HE MENTIONED two things which, he said, his delegation members had learned much about during their stay in the midwest.

1. American experience in mass production of hybird corn seed. 2. Mechanization on farms of small-scale farm processes, particularly those involving livestock.

Matskevich said at the press conference that the more Soviet people come to the United States and the more American people go to the Soviet Uuion "the better the understanding which will result between the two peoples."

He said that the new atmosphere arising out of Geneva had created a situation in which his delegation had become more than just an agricultural delegation gut had instead become a "public" delegation.

He declared that the reduction of the Sovied armed forces announced in Moscow yesterday is the direct result of more friendly relations which have come about as a result of the Geneva conference.

Legume Is Called Better Than Manure

Davis, Calif., Aug. 16 (AP)—A ploughed-under legume crop sometimes fertilizes soil better than barnyard manure, some of the country's leading soil and crop scientists were advised today.

Sweet clover outdid stable fertilizer in Michigan State University tests by J. R. Guttay, R. L. Cook and A. E. Erickson, they told the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy.

They based their report on comparative yields of navy beans, corn, sugar beets and smal grains.

THEY SAID sweet clover ploughed under every two years resulted in an increased row crop yield of 23 per cent and 10 tons of barnyard fertilizer per acre every two years increased yields only 5 per cent. The two ploughed under together increased yields an average of 28 per cent.

"This fact is important to the cash-crop farmer, who generally does not have livestock," they said.

Almost a fourth of the nitrogen in freshly cut ploughed-under alfalfa was recovered by a corn crop the same season at Ames, Iowa, two Iowa State College soil specialists said in a separate paper. The following season, said H. A. Fribourg and W. V. Bartholomew, only about 6 per cent of the nitrogen was recovered by a crop of oats.

OTHER GLEANINGS from papers being presented before the agronomists:

Crossing of sugar beets with wild relatives may produce strains resistant to nematodes.

Two new selective chemical weed killers look promising for controlling annual grass and broadleafed weeds without injuring corn, beans, onions and members of the cabbage family and may be released soon for farm use.

Cotton fields can be cleared of second-growth Johnson grass by applications of oil.

Douglas Welcomed Now

London, Aug. 16 (AP)—U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who used to be regarded by the Russians as a spy, was the subject of a friendly interview broadcast by Moscow Radio today. The jurist is touring the Soviet Union with Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the Senate Committee on Government operations. In 1949, when Douglas was mountain climbing in Turkey, Moscow Radio accused him of using that as a blind for spying on the Soviet Union. The Russians complained similarly in 1951 when he made a mountain trek along the Tibetan frontier.

Mail Halted to Co. On Religious Items

Miami, Fla., Aug. 16 (AP)—Postal authorities have halted mail deliveries to Ex-GI Plastics Co., a mail order firm that shipped unordered religious trinkets to Catholics all over the country.

Postmaster Samuel R. Valliere said yesterday he received a directive from Washington instructing him to halt mail addressed to the company operated by Benjamin and Henry Kram.

The directive also ordered postal employes to refuse payment on any money orders made out to the company.

Another brother, Max Kram, operates Catholic Products of America, which was not affected by the directive.

Have Doubt That Youth Authority Is Real Answer

Canton, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—Three specialists yesterday questioned the wisdom of Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits' proposal that a youth authority be established to deal with juvenile crime in New York state.

They were among 525 social welfare, mental hygiene, probation, parole and youth workers attending the sixth annual Frederick A. Moran Institute on Delinquency and Crime.

THE INSTITUTE at St. Lawrence University opened last night and will continue through Friday.

Edmond Fitzgerald, chief probation officer for Kings county; Dr. Frank T. Flynn, professor at the School of Social Service Administration, University of Chicago; and Miss Mazie R. Rappaport, a division supervisor in the Baltimore Department of Public Welfare, expressed doubt that a state youth authority was the answer to the problem.

Fitzgerald said it went "contrary to good public administration by creating another state agency, probably not needed."

Prof. Flynn said the youth authority plan received impetus in states where "a vacuum existed." He said California was an example that once had been "one of the most scandal-ridden states in the area of juvenile treatment."

Miss Rappaport said the youth authority would require considerable spending. She suggested that the money might be spent better on existing agencies to train personnel.

SHE PRAISED New York as one of the few states spending money on training people who work with children.

Fitzgerald said the incidence of delinquency was large and growing. But he said it was not out of proportion to our population. He added:

"People are more conscious of it from better reporting through the press and better methods of detection."

Vermont Inn Bakes Beans With Maple Syrup Flavor

GRAPE AND PEAR JAM on a hot homemade roll goes well with Rochester, Vt., Inn's special baked beans.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Leonta Quinne, Vermont, born, helps her husband run the Rochester Inn. It's in Rochester, Vermont, on the White River near the Green Mountain National Forest, on Route 100 off Route 4 from Rutland. Tom, her tall Vermonter husband says her beans baked with maple syrup are the best in the world. Her 21-year-old son, David, now in the navy writes from the Antarctic that he dreams of her grape and pear jam. Her two other sons, 10 and 16, as well as the guests at this country inn, vote her special jam their pin-up recipe of the year.

Mrs. Quinn met her husband when she was working in a restaurant, and he, a student at the University of Vermont, worked in the same place at night to help him finance his education.

Vermont Baked Beans

One quart yellow eye beans—or soldier beans, 1 pound lean salt pork, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon ginger, ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 cup Vermont maple syrup, 1 medium onion studded with 2 whole cloves.

Soak beans overnight, drain and parboil in water to cover until skins curl up when blown on. Put onion in bottom of bean pot 3-quart size. Fill with drained, parboiled beans. Make several slits in salt pork and lay on top of beans with the rind side up Combine other ingredients with enough water to cover beans. Bake covered at 300 to 325 degrees F. for about 8 hours.

Her grape and pear jam is made of ripe grapes and ripe pears and bottled liquid fruit pectin. She is writing down her recipe for us and we will run it next week.

Troops Making Ready For Arctic Radar Job

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The army said today 3,000 specially trained troops are nearing the destinations at which they will unload 200,000 tons of supplies for an Arctic radar network.

The equipment is for the distant early warning or "Dew" line, the northernmost radar net spanning the North American continent.

This radar net is a joint venture of the United States and Canada aimed at providing, when completed, early warning of any possible trans-polar air attack.

Army Transportation Corps units have been augmented by army engineers, quartermaster and chemical corps troops for the cargo handling operations, which will be done under constant hazards of fog, ice, and storm.

Two task forces, one working from the Atlantic side and the other from the Pacific, left Seattle, Wash., and Norfolk, Va., last month.

The Pacific task force will pass Point Barrow, Alaska, east bound this month and proceed through the Beaufort Sea into the Canadian Arctic dropping off men, equipment and small cargo vessels en route. The transports will have to be back into the Pacific by late September.

The Atlantic force is divided into two groups. One recently arrived on the coast of Baffin Bay and it will be joined shortly by the other. These two groups will be unloading along the Baffin coast until late September.

Goats Are Goats

Greensburg, Ky. (AP)—As the choir sang "Holy, Holy, Holy," at the Ebenezer Presbyterian Church, two little goats tripped up the aisle. Services were halted after some unholy snickers came from the choir, and the pastor and congregation ushered the goats out.

Wilson Company To Go Downtown In Chicago Area

Chicago, Aug. 16 (AP)—Wilson & Co., one of the nation's major meat packers, says it plans to stop all slaughtering operations at the Chicago stockyards.

The company said yesterday it was going to discontinue meat and food operations at the stockyards and will move its general offices from the yards to the downtown district.

President James D. Cooney said the company was starting "a substantial expansion and modernization of its plants in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Albert Lea, Minn., and Omaha." No date was announced for the company's withdrawal from the stockyards.

THE CHANGE will not affect the company's other plants at Los Angeles, Denver, Memphis, Oklahoma City and Kansas City, Kan.

Cooney said the Chicago plant has "sustained operating losses, primarily in its meat divisions, in each of the past several years." He said expenses were high and "an antiquated and time-worn structure has stood in the way of any substantial reduction in these expenses." Many of the buildings, he added, are more than 50 years old.

Cooney said it would cost about eight million dollars to rehabilitate the property and "such an investment would still be unlikely to yield a satisfactory return." He added the cost of expanding and modernizing the plants at Cadar Rapids, Albert Lea and Omaha will be "substantially less" than the amount needed to rehabilitate the Chicago plant.

COONEY SAID the main reasons for expanding the three plants were: Their good earnings record, their central location and their efficiency of operation.

Swift & Co., another major packer, halted hog slaughter in Chicago in 1952 but the firm processes pork here. It also slaughters cattle and sheep and has its headquarters in the stockyards district.

Swift kills hogs at other plants and the chilled carcasses are shipped to Chicago. The company also buys live hogs at Chicago and they are shipped to Swift plants in the east for slaughter.

Another big packer, Armour & Co., stopped slaughter of lambs and sheep in 1952 in Chicago. But the company has completed a modernization program at its Chicago hog slaughtering plant.

THE ORIGINAL company was founded in 1853 and for many years was known as Sulzberger and Sons Co. It was reorganized in 1916 and Thos. Wilson, president of Morris & Co., packers, was named to head the company which took the Wilson name.

Wilson has a large sporting goods business and also operates the Wilson Laboratories, the pharmaceutical division which recently moved into a new building.

Wilson currently has been killing about 800,000 hogs annually and less than 1,500 cattle a week. Some 3,000 Wilson employes will be affected by the shutdown in Chicago. Cooney said Wilson employs from 23,000 to 24,000 workers at all the company's plants.

Three Are Unhurt On Drifting Blimp

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP)—A damaged, runaway navy blimp was set down in a cornfield by three crew members last night after drifting helplessly for 15 miles.

None of the three civilian crewmen aboard the 350-foot airship was hurt as the craft came down in the field northwest of the naval air station here.

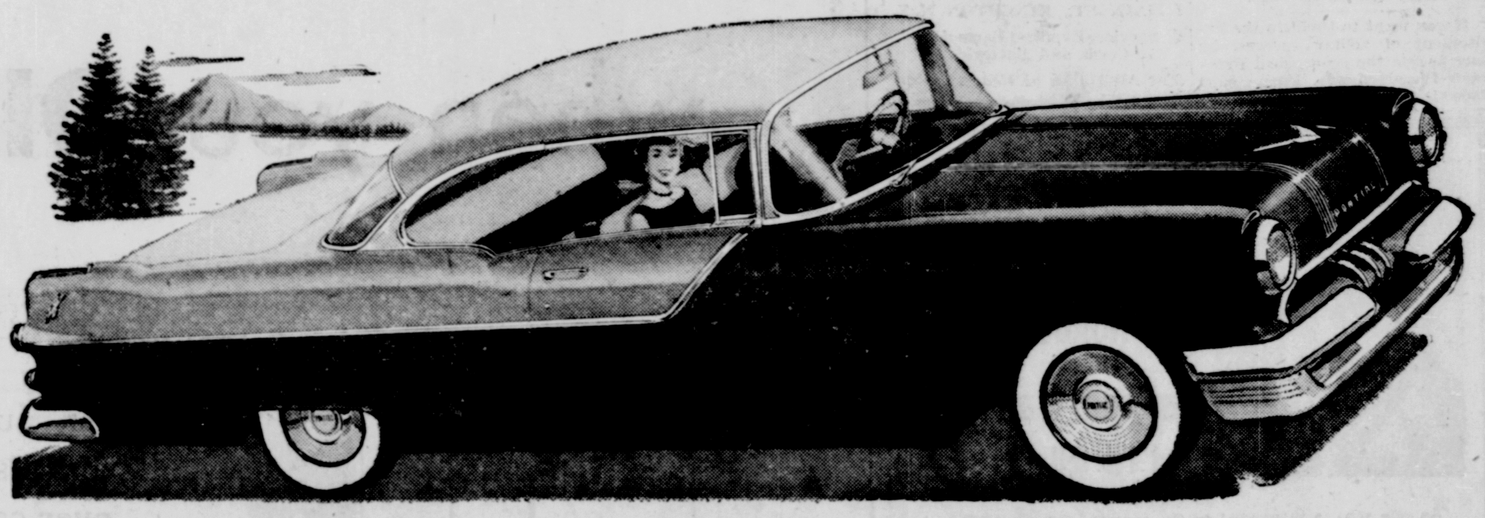

The trio managed to bring the blimp to earth by releasing helium. The craft had broken away from ground crews following an initial landing at the air station in which her landing gear and both propellers were smashed. Five of the crew jumped out to the station runway while the pilot, co-pilot and a mechanic stayed aboard to dump the ship's gasoline and water supply.

BING CROSBY will go dramatic on his first 90-minute show for CBS-TV, scheduled for sometime in November. All plans to build a variety revue around him have been shelved, because he wants to act. So, he's now considering some serious plays, with the possibility of adding a few songs in the TV adaptation.

If you don't think TV influences your life, here's a startling fact for you — Hess Bros. Department Store in Allentown, Pa., started advertising bandages as "Exactly Like Those Used on 'Medic' " and immediately noted a tremendous boost in sales.

The pretty girls you see on television, demonstrating the proper way to apply lipstick or open a refrigerator or light a cigaret, are among the best-paid people in show business.

They're what Henry C. Brown calls "commercial personalities." That's the modern equivalent of the old-fashoned "announcer" and/or "model." And Brown is the biggest agent in the field specializing in placing these girls in their golden jobs.

If you have a yen to do some of "commercial personality" kind of work, here is what Brown looks for in a girl:

She must be young. She must be pretty, but not too beautiful—more the girl-next-door than the girl-on-a-pedestal kind of attractiveness. She must look at home in the kitchen, or behind the wheel of a car, or wherever she's called on to make her pitch. Above all, she must have enthusiasm.

Most of Brown's stable are ex-models. Some, like the very successful Arlene Gray, are ex-actresses. Miss Gray has achieved much more fame and fortune selling products than she ever did selling drama, however, pointing up another of Brown's theories.

"It isn't acting ability that makes success in this field," he says. "Some of the best actresses can't sell beans. And some of the worst actresses make the best saleswomen. It's enthusiasm, believability."

When TV first started utilizing females for selling, the tendency was to employ older women — girls who were definitely "housewive - types." But lately they're getting younger. Seems even a gal in her 20s can look at home in a kitchen.

Brown says there are nowadays about 50 girls in the top bracket in this newfangled trade. And the top bracket pays off to the merry tune of between $25,000 and $50,000 a year. Miss Gray, definitely one of the lucky 50, now owns a boat and doesn't hesitate to turn down as many jobs as she takes.

Necktie Is Death Noose

Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 16 (AP)—Her father's tie became a death noose for 4-year-old Karen Elaine Schuller. Police said the girl apparently stood on a living room chair Sunday, passed the tie through door handles of a linnen closet, tied a loop and put the loop around her neck. The father, Robert, found her unconscious on the floor. He applied artificial respiration but Karen was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Brilliant Play Sparks South Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South had a tough nut to crack in today's hand, for it seemed that he would lose two diamonds and two clubs. Good technique and good card reading won the day, however.

South ruffed the opening heart lead, and entered dummy twice with trumps to ruff out two more hearts. He then led a low club.

West put up the nine of clubs, hoping to win the trick and lead a diamond through dummy. East had to overtake with the 10 of clubs, however. East returned the king of diamonds, which he was permitted to hold, and then switched to the jack of clubs.

South won with the ace of clubs, and West false carded with the queen. This could cost West nothing, since his five of clubs was higher than either of the two clubs that hadn't yet been played. It also did West no good. South was certain that West held the five of clubs for otherwise East would have played the five of clubs on the first club trick to let West lead a diamond.

South also marked West with the king of clubs. He needed that card for his jump raise since it was clear that East had the top hearts and the missing high diamonds. In short, South knew that West had started the hand with four clubs headed by king-queen.

After South took the jack of clubs with his ace, he led a diamond to the ace, and returned the jack of diamonds. East won with the queen of diamonds and was stuck. He had to play a red card, whereupon declarer trumped in his own hand and discarded dummy's last club.

Texas Attorney General Checking Klan Revival

Longview, Tex., Aug. 16 (AP)—The state attorney general says he is checking reports by its investigators that an attempt to revive the Ku Klux Klan is under way in east Texas, apparently to fight integration in public schools.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd Sunday night said his investigators have been checking Klan activities in 22 east Texas counties for more than a week. He didn't identify the organizers or say where they were from.

Shepperd said he would remain in the area to work with local officials on the problem.

There is a heavy Negro population in east Texas and feelings about segreation are strong. Citizens Councils have been formed in at least four communities to fight the Supreme Court order against segregation in public schools. Many school boards have announced they will not integrate their schools this year.

Shepperd said the Citizens Councils should not be confused with the Ku Klux Klan. "Citizens groups use legal means," he said. "The Klan uses fear, hatred and illegal violence."

Nationals Warn Against Intrigues in Formosa

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry today warned the public against new intrigues by Communist agents aimed at creating dissension and confusion in Formosa.

The ministry said in a statement the Communists would never abandon their plans for the military conquest of Formosa, or subversion to further these plans.

The ministry accused Communist sympathizers of trying to play mainland Chinese against native-born Formosans.

"Enemy agents," the statement said, "are using banners of democracy and freedom as a cloak for subversive activities."

The statement was issued after the expiration last midnight of the deadline for all persons who had worked for the Reds or been in any way connected with them to register with the authorities.

The number who had done so was not disclosed.

South had a tough nut to crack in today's hand, for it seemed that he would lose two diamonds and two clubs. Good technique and good card reading won the day, however.

South ruffed the opening heart lead, and entered dummy twice with trumps to ruff out two more hearts. He then led a low club.

West put up the nine of clubs, hoping to win the trick and lead a diamond through dummy. East had to overtake with the 10 of clubs, however. East returned the king of diamonds, which he was permitted to hold, and then switched to the jack of clubs.

South won with the ace of clubs, and West false carded with the queen. This could cost West nothing, since his five of clubs was higher than either of the two clubs that hadn't yet been played. It also did West no good. South was certain that West held the five of clubs for otherwise East would have played the five of clubs on the first club trick to let West lead a diamond.

South also marked West with the king of clubs. He needed that card for his jump raise since it was clear that East had the top hearts and the missing high diamonds. In short, South knew that West had started the hand with four clubs headed by king-queen.

After South took the jack of clubs with his ace, he led a diamond to the ace, and returned the jack of diamonds. East won with the queen of diamonds and was stuck. He had to play a red card, whereupon declarer trumped in his own hand and discarded dummy's last club.

Texas Attorney General Checking Klan Revival

Longview, Tex., Aug. 16 (AP)—The state attorney general says he is checking reports by its investigators that an attempt to revive the Ku Klux Klan is under way in east Texas, apparently to fight integration in public schools.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd Sunday night said his investigators have been checking Klan activities in 22 east Texas counties for more than a week. He didn't identify the organizers or say where they were from.

Shepperd said he would remain in the area to work with local officials on the problem.

There is a heavy Negro population in east Texas and feelings about segreation are strong. Citizens Councils have been formed in at least four communities to fight the Supreme Court order against segregation in public schools. Many school boards have announced they will not integrate their schools this year.

Shepperd said the Citizens Councils should not be confused with the Ku Klux Klan. "Citizens groups use legal means," he said. "The Klan uses fear, hatred and illegal violence."

Won Out Anyway

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Henry G. Gilmer, who says he was born in a southwest Virginia log cabin almost entirely surrounded by Republicans, is retiring as state comptroller after 14 years. A staunch Democrat, he says he disregarded the advice of his father to stay away from politics. In the Old Dominion he has a reputation for picking the outcome of political contests. He is 74 and has been active in politics for nearly 40 years.

Nationals Warn Against Intrigues in Formosa

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry today warned the public against new intrigues by Communist agents aimed at creating dissension and confusion in Formosa.

The ministry said in a statement the Communists would never abandon their plans for the military conquest of Formosa, or subversion to further these plans.

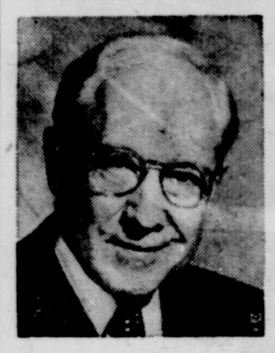

The ministry accused Communist sympathizers of trying to play mainland Chinese against native-born Formosans.

"Enemy agents," the statement said, "are using banners of democracy and freedom as a cloak for subversive activities."

The statement was issued after the expiration last midnight of the deadline for all persons who had worked for the Reds or been in any way connected with them to register with the authorities.

The number who had done so was not disclosed.

German Workman Saves 2 Children

Giessen, Germany, Aug. 16 (AP)—U. S. authorities told today how a quickwitted German laborer rescued two young American children buried in an earth cave-in.

First Lt. Walter S. Bloomfield's children—David 8, Robert 6, and Susan 5—all had been playing at an American construction project here last Friday when Heinrich Trebert heard a cry.

He dropped his tools and ran to the spot where he had seen the trio. Robert was unhurt, but David was buried up to his neck.

Putting his ear to the ground, Trebert thought he heard another child's breathing. He dug down and found Susan. The little girl seemed lifeless when uncovered, but Trebert revived her with artificial respiration. Then he dug out David and hailed a passing American sergeant to rush the two children to medical aid.

They were still under hospital care today for bruises and shock, but will be released soon. Their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bloomfield, live at (15 Ellsworth Ave.) Yonkers, N. Y., while Mrs. Bloomfield's mother, Mrs. Doris Oan, lives at (4220 Smeeling Ave.) Minneapolis, Minn.

Men Pay Price of Privacy If Elected to White House

By ED CREAGH

Washington, (AP)—The minute a man is elected President of the United States he moves into a goldfish bowl illuminated by searchlights.

A President has many things—power, prestige, a standard of living few millionaires could afford. But he's denied one thing any Joe Doakes can achieve—privacy.

HE'S GUARDED night and day by perhaps the most determined and devoted crew of men in the world, the U. S. Secret Service. His doings are reported by probably the most curious and observant group anywhere, the White House press corps.

Anything a President says, even the most offhand remark, is noted, analyzed, interpreted. Any tailor feels qualified to pass judgment on a President's wardrobe. Any housewife feels free to criticize his wife's hair-do.

HERBERT HOOVER used to say a president can be himself only on two occasions — when fishing and when praying. Even that isn't quite true any more. President Eisenhower often has a gallery when he fishes and crowds form to watch him go to church.

So it's no wonder all recent presidents have fled from the White House at every opportunity. Ike's out in Colorado now, looking for a little peace. Harry Truman used to hole up in Key West, where people couldn't stare at him as if (to use his own phrase for it) he were a two-headed calf. Franklin D. Roosevelt spent more time at Hyde Park than in Washington during the later days of his presidency.

IT'S INEVITABLE that Americans throw such a strong spotlight on their president for the simple reason that a president fills several roles, all of them starring ones:

He is, first and foremost, head of the executive branch of the government—with duties such as a prime minister performs in most countries.

He likewise is chief of state—in effect, an uncrowned king with all manner of ceremonial duties ranging from the entertainment of visiting foreign dignitaries to buying the year's first buddy poppy, or launching the Washington Senators on another sad season.

Then, too, the President is head of his political party—and that's a job he must fill adequately if he's going to be an effective chief executive.

ADD TO THESE a few other little chores, such as being commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and you wonder why any man ever wants to be President even though the pay is good ($100,000 a year and an expense account) and you get your picture on a postage stamp after you're dead.

Thomas E. Dewey, who tried as hard as anybody ever has to get the job, was asked near the end of the 1948 gubernatorial campaign why any rational person would seek the burdens and tribulations of the presidency. The then Governor of New York scratched his head and, finally, gave a rueful little laugh.

"I don't know," he confessed.

STILL THERE never has been any shortage of applicants for the job. Where is there a public official—village alderman or U. S. Senator—who hasn't, in the secret recesses of his heart, nurtured a wild hope that some day lightning might strike . . . and blast him into the ranks of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln?

Privacy? Most men would count it a small price to pay for a sure place in history. Only the 33 men who have held the presidency of the United States could tell them how great the price really is.

The principle of the abacus has been known for more than 2,000 years.

Pack 19 Mother Is Third to Get Training Award

Lillian Rittie, a Den Mother of Pack 10, sponsored by Joyce-Schirick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was presented a three-year training award during the regular meeting of the Kingston District of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, Monday night at the VFW Hall.

The presentation marked the third time a den mother has earned this award and all three den mothers are members of Pack 19.

TO EARN this award an adult in scouting must have completed the basic training course related to his field of scouting and also have helped in conducting training of other leaders.

The requirements also include that the adult must accept and perform leadership responsibilities for a period of not less than three years in a pack, troop or post, be constant in attendance at pack and den meetings, serve as a leader of five outdoor activities, participate in at least 20 program planning meetings with other leaders of the pack, plan and conduct a meeting yearly of the parents of the boys in the den. Attendance at the monthly district meetings also is necessary for a period of three years.

Ralph Harper, district chairman, presided at the meeting. Kingston District Commissioner Edward Safford announced that the fall activity for the Kingston District Troops and Post would be a Camporee to be held at Zena Woods Oct. 14, 15 and 16. The program for this camporee is now being prepared by the commissioner staff and will soon be in the hands of all scoutmasters and explorer advisors. He asked that all units present at the meeting take with them their fall program planning quarterlies.

CLIFFORD MILLER, district organization and extension chairman, announced that as of the end of July the Kingston District showed a gain of five units and 62 boys over the same time last year. A total of 672 boys are registered in 31 units in the District. District Advancement Chairman Claude Williams urged all troops to have boards of review within the next month to qualify those scouts who earned badges and advancements at camp this summer. Donald White, district finance chairman, gave a preliminary report on the annual finance campaign being conducted outside the area covered by the Kingston Area Community Chest. He urged all captains and solicitors to complete their coverage this month and to turn in their solicitations as quickly as possible.

Program planning sessions were held as follows: for Cub leaders the theme for September "Robin Hood" was presented by William Bush, Cubmaster of Pack 15 sponsored by the Reformed Church of the Comforter. Troop leaders met with Elmore Yallum, Scoutmaster of Troop 5 sponsored by B'nai B'rith to discuss the theme of next month, "Round-Up Time." Explorer leaders met with Neighborhood Commissioner Richard Waltman to plan the "Glamor Panel" to be conducted in October in conjunction with the Girl Scouts. The District Committee composed of the institutional representatives and the operating committee chairmen of the district met with Ralph Harper, district chairman, to make plans for the Fall district program and activities.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held Monday, Sept. 19, at the First Baptist Church with Troop 6 serving as host. All units are urged to save the date and be represented.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 16 (AP)—A 19-year-old soldier, perched precariously atop a six-story building, was hauled to safety today after ignoring pleas to come down himself. To officers who questioned him later, Pvt. Daniel E. Burns gave this explanation: "I don't like the army." Burns said he spent several hours atop the building before police were called to the scene.

France Cool to Plan

Paris, Aug. 16 (AP)—France is cool toward a U. S. proposal to publish official records of the recent Big Four conference at Geneva, informed sources said today. A request for French approval of the plan was received through the French Embassy in Washington, they said. Premier Edgar Faure's government was pictured as being more opposed to the principle of publishing such records than to publication in this particular case.

Good Taste Today

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

WHEN AUNT AND UNCLE ARE CLOSER

A bride-to-be tells me: "I am going to be married in the near future and was wondering how to go about having my wedding announcements worded. I have been living with my aunt and uncle for the past five years. My father is deceased and my mother has remarried. I would like to use my aunt and uncle's names, but I am afraid that might hurt my mother's feelings. I do see my mother occasionally but I feel that my aunt and uncle are closer to me as they have given me so much. If my mother's name should be used, must I include my stepfather too? I would prefer not to as he and I never have gotten on together."

These last circumstances that you describe makes it plain that the invitations should go out in your aunt and uncle's names as you cannot possibly use your mother's name without that of your stepfather.

When to Include "Miss"

Dear Mrs. Post: I am constantly receiving mail addressed to Mr. Jessie Brown. I am Miss. The masculine form of Jessie is Jesse but apparently many people do not know this. In writing letters to people who do not know me, would it be correct for me to sign my name Miss Jessie Brown in order to avoid confusion?

Answer: You may sign your name with "Miss" in parenthesis following it—this way, Jessie Brown (Miss).

Florist's Mistake

Dear Mrs. Post: I ordered a floral piece to be sent to a funeral and in some unexplainable way the order was lost and the flowers never were sent. I inquired when I noticed that the charge did not appear on my bill. What can I do to let the bereaved family know that we have not forgotten them? It's really quite distressing to me.

Answer: You simply write and tell them you are distressed to find that the florist hadn't sent them as you had ordered and that they are sent now in very deep sympathy. You would, of course, send cut flowers and not the original floral piece.

France Cool to Plan

Paris, Aug. 16 (AP)—France is cool toward a U. S. proposal to publish official records of the recent Big Four conference at Geneva, informed sources said today. A request for French approval of the plan was received through the French Embassy in Washington, they said. Premier Edgar Faure's government was pictured as being more opposed to the principle of publishing such records than to publication in this particular case.

WHEN AUNT AND UNCLE ARE CLOSER

A bride-to-be tells me: "I am going to be married in the near future and was wondering how to go about having my wedding announcements worded. I have been living with my aunt and uncle for the past five years. My father is deceased and my mother has remarried. I would like to use my aunt and uncle's names, but I am afraid that might hurt my mother's feelings. I do see my mother occasionally but I feel that my aunt and uncle are closer to me as they have given me so much. If my mother's name should be used, must I include my stepfather too? I would prefer not to as he and I never have gotten on together."

These last circumstances that you describe makes it plain that the invitations should go out in your aunt and uncle's names as you cannot possibly use your mother's name without that of your stepfather.

When to Include "Miss"

Dear Mrs. Post: I am constantly receiving mail addressed to Mr. Jessie Brown. I am Miss. The masculine form of Jessie is Jesse but apparently many people do not know this. In writing letters to people who do not know me, would it be correct for me to sign my name Miss Jessie Brown in order to avoid confusion?

Answer: You may sign your name with "Miss" in parenthesis following it—this way, Jessie Brown (Miss).

Florist's Mistake

Dear Mrs. Post: I ordered a floral piece to be sent to a funeral and in some unexplainable way the order was lost and the flowers never were sent. I inquired when I noticed that the charge did not appear on my bill. What can I do to let the bereaved family know that we have not forgotten them? It's really quite distressing to me.

Answer: You simply write and tell them you are distressed to find that the florist hadn't sent them as you had ordered and that they are sent now in very deep sympathy. You would, of course, send cut flowers and not the original floral piece.

Village Trustees Enact Saugerties Weed Ordinance

An ordinance regulating and controlling the growth of weeds, grass and other rank vegetation and regulating the care of vacant lots and plots of land in the village of Saugerties was enacted at the regular meeting of the village board of trustees held last night at the Saugerties Municipal Building.

Mayor Arthur F. Simmons who presided requested that the ordinance be published and take effect immediately. Action on the new village ordinance was taken when numerous complaints were received from residents that vacant lots inside the village boundaries were being neglected and creating hazards.

THE ORDINANCE is drafted in five sections, the first of which makes it unlawful for any owner, lessee or occupant of an unoccupied lot or plot of land, to permit any growth of weeds, grass or other rank vegetation to a greater height than 12 inches on the average. The first section also includes poison ivy, ragweed and other poisonous plants detrimental to health.

In accordance with the second section the owners or those controlling the property must cut and remove the offending vegetation at least once in every three weeks between May 15 and Sept. 15.

The third section permits the superintendent of public works, following written notice and failure of compliance, to cut and remove such offending vegetation and the actual cost of such cutting and removing plus 5 per cent for inspection and other additional costs will become a lien upon the property and shall be added to the taxes levied on the property.

Prior to enactment a public hearing on the so-called "haylot ordinance" was held and when no one appeared the ordinance was read by Mayor Simmons and made law.

A DELEGATION of Plattekill owners who are suing the village made a voluntary appearance before the board of trustees to hear a special report of the water supply system of the village drafted by Edward I. McCaffery, consulting engineer.

The report indicated that the Blue Mountain Reservoir catchment area approximates 17 square miles and contains a capacity of about 12 million gallons. The report also showed that approximately one million gallons are consumed per day and that the watershed area would yield an average of about 17 million gallons per day. In regard to the riparian owners the report recognized the fact that the village was concerned as the riparian owners below the dam have inferred by their suit that increased usage of water by the village would eventually effect said owners. The report by Mr. McCaffrey then said that the one million gallons used per day is only six per cent of the 17 million gallon flow and consequently the riparian owners down stream obtain the residual 94 per cent of the average stream flow.

However, the representatives of the Plattekill owners in attendance with their attorney Morris Rosenblum were not impressed and therefore no agreement in regard to the suit was reached at the meeting.

OTHER BUSINESS at the meeting included granting permission to the Saugerties Rotary Club to conduct an auction for the benefit of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America in the Municipal Building parking lot on Saturday, Aug. 27.

The report on the results of the civil service examinations for sergeant of the Saugerties Police Department was read, following which Acting Sergeant John J. Keeley Sr. was appointed as full sergeant.

Mayor Simmons called a special meeting for a discussion on re-assessment on Monday, Aug. 29 at 7:30 p. m. in the trustee rooms. Frank Kelly, municipal appraisers of Albany will be present to outline the re-assessment program to the board.

On the recommendation of the Saugerties Planning Commission, Mayor Simmons announced that the board would go ahead with the zoning proposal and he would appoint a zoning board to undertake the project at the next meeting.

They were charged with being members of an unlawful assembly that resulted in the slaying of Gene Symonds, 29, southeast Asia manager for the United Press, and three other persons. The mob was demonstrating in support of a bus strike. Symonds went to the scene to cover it and was beaten and kicked to death. The mute witness, Lim Yen Lin, testified at a preliminary hearing through an interpreter. He identified Suppiah as the man who pulled off Symonds' watch after the American had been beaten.

The structure is mounted on huge legs sunk 50 feet into the ocean's floor on Georges Bank, a fishing area.

It was named Texas Tower because it resembles an oil rig.

Must See First

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—Sen. Bennett (R.-Utah) said today "we've got to see a lot more tangible evidence" that world tensions are easing before the United States can safely cut its military spending more deeply. "The American people, like the President and Congress, hope it's true and are willing to be shown" that Russia sincerely wants peace, Bennett said in an interview. "But we've got to see a lot more evidence before making a substantial further cut. We've got, for instance, to see that 640,000-man cut in their armed forces and we should know also the total military force such a cut will leave them."

Policeman, Taxi Driver Held in Case of 2 Girls

New York, Aug. 16 (AP) — A morals case involving teen-age girls has brought the arrest of a policeman and a taxicab driver. Last week nine police officers were suspended on charges of impairing the morals of two other teen-age girls.

The arrests yesterday followed a probe into the activities of two runaway girls from an upstate institution. Police said the girls, one 17 and the other 16, worked as prostitutes in the Times Square area for more than a month.

CHARGED WITH second degree rape in the case were Patrolman John Shaughnessy, 23, and cab driver Angelo Longo, 32.

Shaughnessy, married and the father of one child, is accused of having had relations with both girls on July 29 in an upper Manhattan hotel. Police said Longo had relations with one of the girls on Aug. 11.

The girls were identified as Charlotte Woodhouse, 16, and Nancy Brigham, 17.

Police said the girls, both buxom and looking older than their age, fled the St. Anne Institute for wayward girls in Albany, N. Y., on July 2. They were picked up by police in the Times Square area early Sunday morning.

Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said that before entering the Albany institution Miss Woodhouse had lived with her mother and stepfather in Niagara Falls and Miss Brigham had lived with her father and stepmother in Port Crane.

Hogan said the parents of both were divorced.

MEANWHILE, police in 14 states were looking for an ex-convict described by authorities as a "procurer of the worst type."

The man, George (The Ox) Bellingham, alias George Ochs, 27, escaped from a Manhattan police station yesterday morning after the two girls named him as the one who allegedly introduced them to prostitution.

He was one of 40-odd persons rounded up by police for questioning in the case.

Last Wednesday, nine police officers were suspended from the force on charges of impairing the morals of two 15-year-old runaway girls. The girls, both pregnant, were picked up drinking beer in a Coney Island saloon. They pointed out the nine cops at five lineups of police officers in the Coney Island precinct. A number of civilians also were arrested in the case.

After cleaning wastebaskets, wax the inside. Less dirt will cling.

AEC Would Spend Up To $500,000 for Tester

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) said today it wants a new reactor to test cores for other reactors.

Inviting bids from industrial firms for design and construction of the new unit, the AEC said it will be used to test reactor cores under severe operating conditions. Results will help determine safe operating limits and aid in developing the safest possible reactor designs, it said.

The new unit will be constructed at the National Reactor Testing Station in Idaho and will cost between $250,000 and $500,000, AEC said.

Postal Transportation Service Has Changes

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Post Office Department announced today completion of its decentralization program as it incorporated its postal transportation service into the regional offices it had set up earlier.

The 15 regional directors throughout the country now will have supervision over transportation as well as other phases of postal service within their regions. The general superintendents who have handled transport now become regional transportation managers. Most of the districts remain unchanged.

Postmaster General Summerfield predicted the change would improve mail service through better coordination. The change became effective yesterday, except for clerical work which will be completed as of Sept. 30.

Present regional transportation offices will remain in Ft. Worth, St. Paul, Pittsburgh, Seattle and Omaha for the present, but may be moved later to regional headquarters in other cities. That at New Orleans will be moved Sept. 1 to the Memphis regional office. Other transportation offices are in the same cities as the regional offices.

The week-long birthday-anniversary party, starting Sept. 17, will also include the crowning of the 40-year-old Romanian-born Sultanah the Malay ruler married in 1940 after divorcing his Scottish second wife. The sultan—Maj. Gen. His Highness Sir Ibrahim, as Debrett's Knightage lists him—arrived from England aboard the Dutch liner Willem Ruys with his wife and their first-year-old daughter Mariam. They had made an extended visit to Britain.

New York Motor Society Meets

A meeting of the "Igniters," a new organization designed to attract hot-rodders and young men interested in automobiles, will hold its second meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday at Don's Service garage, 52 Hasbrouck avenue.

All members and other interested young men are invited to attend.

Abou 30 young men were present at the organizational meeting last week. A spokesman for the "Igniters" told The Freeman that a committee would be appointed Thursday to seek a mile-long "drag strip" or track on which the motor-minded young people may drive under club regulations.

ONE OBJECTIVE of the organization, supported by local officals, including Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, is to curb reckless driving among the city's youth on public thoroughfares while maintaining high interest in safe and proper driving at all times.

It was also pointed out that the organization hopes to expand into a county-wide club, perhaps to be known as the "Ulster County Igniters."

Officers were elected at the meeting last week as follows: William Locke, president; Amos MacCreery, vice-president; Peter Steketee, treasurer; William Ziros, inspector, and Joseph Cornelski, secretary. On the advisory board are Don Eaton, Gus Lovy, Leroy "Pappy" Wells and Carl Cline.

Bay State Worker Killed on Texas Tower

Boston, Aug. 16 (AP)—A construction worker was killed yesterday on the Texas Tower, an air force radar station being installed in the Atlantic 100 miles off Cape Cod.

Arsen S. Haroutuanian, 41, of Everett, father of two and a veteran of 24 years in the navy, was killed when an anchor cable snapped and struck him. He was employed as a rigger.

The structure is mounted on huge legs sunk 50 feet into the ocean's floor on Georges Bank, a fishing area.

It was named Texas Tower because it resembles an oil rig.

Announcement of the bids was made by John W. Johnson, state superintendent of public works. The bids will be opened at the State Office Building Thursday, Aug. 18, at 2 p. m., by the State Department of Public Works.

Must See First

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—Sen. Bennett (R.-Utah) said today "we've got to see a lot more tangible evidence" that world tensions are easing before the United States can safely cut its military spending more deeply. "The American people, like the President and Congress, hope it's true and are willing to be shown" that Russia sincerely wants peace, Bennett said in an interview. "But we've got to see a lot more evidence before making a substantial further cut. We've got, for instance, to see that 640,000-man cut in their armed forces and we should know also the total military force such a cut will leave them."

Cooperstown, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—The body of Harry C. Norcross, 39, of Mount Holly, N. J., who was reported missing last Aug. 2, was found yesterday in a thicket at nearby Mount Vision. Dr. Fisk Brooks, an Otsego county coroner, said Norcross had taken his own life by hanging. The body was found about a half-mile from the home of Richard Allen, his brother-in-law, where Norcross had been visiting. Allen had reported him missing and police had sent out a 13-state alert.

Policeman, Taxi Driver Held in Case of 2 Girls

New York, Aug. 16 (AP) — A morals case involving teen-age girls has brought the arrest of a policeman and a taxicab driver. Last week nine police officers were suspended on charges of impairing the morals of two other teen-age girls.

The arrests yesterday followed a probe into the activities of two runaway girls from an upstate institution. Police said the girls, one 17 and the other 16, worked as prostitutes in the Times Square area for more than a month.

CHARGED WITH second degree rape in the case were Patrolman John Shaughnessy, 23, and cab driver Angelo Longo, 32.

Shaughnessy, married and the father of one child, is accused of having had relations with both girls on July 29 in an upper Manhattan hotel. Police said Longo had relations with one of the girls on Aug. 11.

The girls were identified as Charlotte Woodhouse, 16, and Nancy Brigham, 17.

Police said the girls, both buxom and looking older than their age, fled the St. Anne Institute for wayward girls in Albany, N. Y., on July 2. They were picked up by police in the Times Square area early Sunday morning.

Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said that before entering the Albany institution Miss Woodhouse had lived with her mother and stepfather in Niagara Falls and Miss Brigham had lived with her father and stepmother in Port Crane.

Hogan said the parents of both were divorced.

MEANWHILE, police in 14 states were looking for an ex-convict described by authorities as a "procurer of the worst type."

The man, George (The Ox) Bellingham, alias George Ochs, 27, escaped from a Manhattan police station yesterday morning after the two girls named him as the one who allegedly introduced them to prostitution.

He was one of 40-odd persons rounded up by police for questioning in the case.

Last Wednesday, nine police officers were suspended from the force on charges of impairing the morals of two 15-year-old runaway girls. The girls, both pregnant, were picked up drinking beer in a Coney Island saloon. They pointed out the nine cops at five lineups of police officers in the Coney Island precinct. A number of civilians also were arrested in the case.

AEC Would Spend Up To $500,000 for Tester

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) said today it wants a new reactor to test cores for other reactors.

Inviting bids from industrial firms for design and construction of the new unit, the AEC said it will be used to test reactor cores under severe operating conditions. Results will help determine safe operating limits and aid in developing the safest possible reactor designs, it said.

The new unit will be constructed at the National Reactor Testing Station in Idaho and will cost between $250,000 and $500,000, AEC said.

Postal Transportation Service Has Changes

Washington, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Post Office Department announced today completion of its decentralization program as it incorporated its postal transportation service into the regional offices it had set up earlier.

The 15 regional directors throughout the country now will have supervision over transportation as well as other phases of postal service within their regions. The general superintendents who have handled transport now become regional transportation managers. Most of the districts remain unchanged.

Postmaster General Summerfield predicted the change would improve mail service through better coordination. The change became effective yesterday, except for clerical work which will be completed as of Sept. 30.

Present regional transportation offices will remain in Ft. Worth, St. Paul, Pittsburgh, Seattle and Omaha for the present, but may be moved later to regional headquarters in other cities. That at New Orleans will be moved Sept. 1 to the Memphis regional office. Other transportation offices are in the same cities as the regional offices.

Home for Celebration

Singapore, Aug. 16 (AP)—One of the Far East's most colorful characters, the Sultan of Johore, came home today for a million-dollar celebration of his 82nd birthday and 60th anniversary as ruler of one of Malaya's richest states. The week-long birthday-anniversary party, starting Sept. 17, will also include the crowning of the 40-year-old Romanian-born Sultanah the Malay ruler married in 1940 after divorcing his Scottish second wife. The sultan—Maj. Gen. His Highness Sir Ibrahim, as Debrett's Knightage lists him—arrived from England aboard the Dutch liner Willem Ruys with his wife and their first-year-old daughter Mariam. They had made an extended visit to Britain.

New York Motor Society Meets

A meeting of the "Igniters," a new organization designed to attract hot-rodders and young men interested in automobiles, will hold its second meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday at Don's Service garage, 52 Hasbrouck avenue.

All members and other interested young men are invited to attend.

Abou 30 young men were present at the organizational meeting last week. A spokesman for the "Igniters" told The Freeman that a committee would be appointed Thursday to seek a mile-long "drag strip" or track on which the motor-minded young people may drive under club regulations.

ONE OBJECTIVE of the organization, supported by local officals, including Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, is to curb reckless driving among the city's youth on public thoroughfares while maintaining high interest in safe and proper driving at all times.

It was also pointed out that the organization hopes to expand into a county-wide club, perhaps to be known as the "Ulster County Igniters."

Officers were elected at the meeting last week as follows: William Locke, president; Amos MacCreery, vice-president; Peter Steketee, treasurer; William Ziros, inspector, and Joseph Cornelski, secretary. On the advisory board are Don Eaton, Gus Lovy, Leroy "Pappy" Wells and Carl Cline.

Jones Dairy and Doblers Battle to 2-2 Tie in Twi League

The City Baseball League standings maintained the status quo yesterday when Jones Dairy and Dobler Beer battled to a 2-2 tie. Darkness halted the game at the end of six innings.

But league managers are acutely aware of a couple of traditional late-season items.

THE TIME OF the year has arrived when five and six inning games are commonplace. A couple of tie games along the way would further snarl the second half race. The solution, of course, is an earlier starting time.

Jones Dairy managed to gain a tie although limited to three singles by Joe Benjamin Jr., who walked eight men. One of the free strolls developed into the tying marker, when Nippy Jones stole home in the fourth.

Doblers trailed 2-0 when they knotted the count in the fifth. They picked up six hits off Joe Modica, with Benjamin getting a pair.

BOTH OF THE Jones tallies were carted across the plate by a lad named Jones. He got a life on Bill Glaser's boot in the first inning, stole second and rode home on Tom Carlino's single.

In the fourth, Jones (Nippy) walked, moved up on infield outs and eventually made a clean steal of home.

Doblers' tying rally in the fifth was built around singles stroked by Benjamin, Beichert and Bill Glaser.

Opener to Royals In Clutch Series

(By The Associated Press)

If the Toronto Maple Leafs figured to waltz back into the International League lead against Montreal they better forget it. The Royals are playing their best when the chips are down.

Montreal snatched first place from Toronto last week but haven't been able to build up much of an edge. But last night they smacked the Maple Leafs 7-3 in the first game of their showdown series and moved into a one-game lead.

In other games the Havana Sugar Kings dropped 2½ games off the pace by dropping a 7-2 decision to the Syracuse Chiefs. The Rochester Red Wings defeated the Buffalo Bisons 8-6 and the Columbus Jets trounced the Richmond Virginians 8-0.

Tom Lasorda hurled a six-hitter for Montreal to gain his fifth victory in 13 decisions. He struck out eight and walked five.

Legion Pitchers On Strikeout Spree

Billings, Mont., Aug. 16 (AP) —It was no night for the batters when Billings eliminated Lewiston, Idaho, from the Region 11 Junior American Legion tournament last night with a 19-inning, 1-0 victory.

Fans who sat through the 4 hour and 10 minute session saw 54 strikeouts, 25 by Billings starter Bob Bolingbroke and 5 more by reliefer Dick Montee.

Montee's single decided the game. He went to second when an attempt to pick him off first misfired, and scored on an error.

The longest scoring run in Cotton Bowl history was Dickey Moegle's 95-yard dash for a touchdown against Alabama on Jan. 1, 1954. That was the play in which Moegle was tackled by an over-zealous Alabama bench warmer.

Charlie Boice held the Rotarians to a pair of hits, walked five and struck out 11. The Vols collected five hits off Don Juhl.

THE WIN WAS the seventh in in eight decisions for the Vols and left them a half game ahead of Kiwanis in the victory column.

Sam Janeczek doubled in two runs for the Vols in the third after walks to Don Krueger. Dick Wenzel and Paul Celuch loaded the bases.

Leading 3-2 the Vols salted the decision in the seventh with another pair of markers on base knocks by Celuch and Bob Short.

BOTH OF THE Rotary runs off Boice were on the tainted side. Jim Massa was safe on an error in the fourth and scored while the infielders were messing up an outfield relay following Lee Kias's single.

A Split second is the big difference!

A split second is the big difference in pulling down a long drive. In your engine it's even more important. Unless your engine fires on the right 1/100 of a second, power works against you, not for you.

TCP is the Big Difference between Highest Octane Gasolines— gives you split-second "GO"

The more your car's engine needs high octane the more it needs TCP

With the horsepower of today's engines at an all-time high, it's no wonder they'll give you split-second "GO" at the touch of your toe.

But did you know that deposits, which build up in your engine during daily driving, soon cut down this fine response?

In combustion chambers they glow red hot and fire the gasoline a split second before the piston reaches firing position . . . resulting in an incomplete power stroke. On spark plugs, the deposits cause short circuits and your engine "misses"—wasting still more power!

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and top octane. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use! Fill up today at your Shell Dealer's.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Opener to Royals In Clutch Series

(By The Associated Press)

If the Toronto Maple Leafs figured to waltz back into the International League lead against Montreal they better forget it. The Royals are playing their best when the chips are down.

Montreal snatched first place from Toronto last week but haven't been able to build up much of an edge. But last night they smacked the Maple Leafs 7-3 in the first game of their showdown series and moved into a one-game lead.

In other games the Havana Sugar Kings dropped 2½ games off the pace by dropping a 7-2 decision to the Syracuse Chiefs. The Rochester Red Wings defeated the Buffalo Bisons 8-6 and the Columbus Jets trounced the Richmond Virginians 8-0.

Tom Lasorda hurled a six-hitter for Montreal to gain his fifth victory in 13 decisions. He struck out eight and walked five.

Legion Pitchers On Strikeout Spree

Billings, Mont., Aug. 16 (AP)—It was no night for the batters when Billings eliminated Lewiston, Idaho, from the Region 11 Junior American Legion tournament last night with a 19-inning, 1-0 victory.

Fans who sat through the 4 hour and 10 minute session saw 54 strikeouts, 25 by Billings starter Bob Bolingbroke and 5 more by reliefer Dick Montee.

Montee's single decided the game. He went to second when an attempt to pick him off first misfired, and scored on an error.

The longest scoring run in Cotton Bowl history was Dickey Moegle's 95-yard dash for a touchdown against Alabama on Jan. 1, 1954. That was the play in which Moegle was tackled by an over-zealous Alabama bench warmer.

Volunteer Firemen took temporary possession of first place in the Fraternal Youth League yesterday by whipping the Rotary, 5 to 2.

Charlie Boice held the Rotarians to a pair of hits, walked five and struck out 11. The Vols collected five hits off Don Juhl.

THE WIN WAS the seventh in in eight decisions for the Vols and left them a half game ahead of Kiwanis in the victory column.

Sam Janeczek doubled in two runs for the Vols in the third after walks to Don Krueger, Dick Wenzel and Paul Celuch loaded the bases.

Leading 3-2 the Vols salted the decision in the seventh with another pair of markers on base knocks by Celuch and Bob Short.

BOTH OF THE Rotary runs off Boice were on the tainted side. Jim Massa was safe on an error in the fourth and scored while the infielders were messing up an outfield relay following Lee Kias's single.

The run in the sixth was the result of Jim Dickson's single, a pair of passed balls and Don Juhl's solo swat.

A Split second is the big difference!

A split second is the big difference in pulling down a long drive. In your engine it's even more important. Unless your engine fires on the right 1/100 of a second, power works against you, not for you.

TCP is the Big Difference between Highest Octane Gasolines— gives you split-second "GO"

The more your car's engine needs high octane the more it needs TCP

With the horsepower of today's engines at an all-time high, it's no wonder they'll give you split-second "GO" at the touch of your toe.

But did you know that deposits, which build up in your engine during daily driving, soon cut down this fine response?

In combustion chambers they glow red hot and fire the gasoline a split second before the piston reaches firing position . . . resulting in an incomplete power stroke. On spark plugs, the deposits cause short circuits and your engine "misses"—wasting still more power!

TCP, the specially developed Shell gasoline additive, neutralizes deposits as they form. It stops both pre-firing and spark plug failure. That's how TCP keeps top octane delivering split-second response.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and top octane. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use! Fill up today at your Shell Dealer's.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Woodstock Open Draws Top Northeastern PGA Stars Aug. 26

Gerlak, Farina, Savel, Stuhler Will Compete

Clinton Traver Heads Amateurs

Alex Gerlak, a four-time winner of the event, defends his Woodstock Open title against a crack field of 20 professionals and 40 amateurs in this year's tournament on Friday, Aug. 26.

Gerlak's stiffest competition is expected to come from Armand Farina, who captured the event three straight years (1951-52-53) but did not compete last year.

According to entries received by J. Carson Hutchins, Woodstock pro and director of the event, this year's field will include every "name" golfer in the Northeastern PGA district.

FARINA WILL BE accompanied by his two brothers, Guy and Jim. The perennial entries feature Ian "Scotty" Robertson of Onteora; Fred Lux, Dutchess Golf and Country Club of Poughkeepsie; Charlie De Stefano of College Hill, Poughkeepsie.

David McMeekin, pro at the new 18-hole Wiltwyck course, is expected to make his area debut in the 36-hole tournament.

Other Northeastern PGA standbys returning are Frank Stuhler of the Antlers, Amsterdam; Bob Smith, Woolfert's Roost, Albany; Bill Gressick of Cobleskill; Steve Savel, Western Turnpike, Albany; Big John Gaucas, president of the Northeastern group and Dick Stennard of Amsterdam.

Eddie Brown of Columbia Golf Club at Claverack has been invited, along with Joe Sondey of Red Hook.

THE AMATEUR contingent embraces the best in Ulster county and several topnotchers like Clinton H. Traver of Rhinebeck who carded the best score of 103 in last year's event.

Bill Van Aken, amateur club champion at Woodstock; George Hughes, Alvin Boice, and other county kingpins have filed entries. There are separate prize divisions for pros and amateurs.

Woodstock Country Club members stage their annual Calcutta in conjunction with the tournament. The bidding for players will take place Thursday, Aug. 25, following a steak roast on the club grounds.

San Jose State halfback Walt Ackemann is a real estate and insurance salesman during the summer months.

HOLE-IN-ONE CHAMPIONS—Rather belatedly, but here they are: Mrs. Anthony J. DeLisio, Woodstock Country Club, and Clyde Wonderly Jr., Wiltwyck, holding handsome golf clocks they won as first prizes in the Freeman hole-in-one tournament. (Freeman photo).

Cuties 'Blank' Perrys, 8 to 0; Zany Antics Stir Good Crowd

Folks came up to see those gorgeous California Cuties for the second time last night at Dietz Stadium and they liked what they saw.

The Cuties scored eight "runs" to blank Perry's of the City Softball League by an alleged 8-0 score.

But the Perrys played willing stooges to several hilarious situations and the fair sized crowd enjoyed every minute of the "game."

"Keep hustling, girls," Christine, the first base coach, admonished her charges. "You never can tell."

MOST OF THE scoring action was jammed into the third inning when the transcontinental "beauties" suddenly exploded for five runs with two out. "That's nice hustling, kiddies," yelled Christine.

Joe Venuti had just fanned Cinderalla and Judie the Hillbilly, a couple of sterling characters, when Penthouse Polly and Liza Jane singled. Beulah, the Midget, walked and suddenly the bases were loaded. Glenda cracked a single through the box chasing home two runs and Lotta Fanny got some of it into a waist high pitch and sent it soaring into left center field alley for a three-run homer.

GLENDA, A faded blonde was an ornery character out there on that slab. She allowed only two hits and fanned eight, although a couple of the "strikeouts" were invisible to the audience and the umpire, Main Street Sally, was just as partial as she could be to her "honies." The Cuties don't take any chances. They bring their own ump.

Before the game, the Cuties chorus put on a half-hour skit of dances and solos, with Christine as emcee. That questionable personality did a fine takeoff on "Why Don't You Believe Me" boys, you know it's true. Then followed a shadow ball infield practice that was undoubtedly the finest ever witnessed at the stadium.

Cramps Halt Swim

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Aug. 16 (AP) — Severe back cramps forced Leon Bouchard, 25-year-old steel worker out of cold Lake Ontario last night, fewer than six hours after he started on a swim to Toronto. The barrel-chested swimmer had covered seven miles in the misty, heaving lake. He planned to swim from this resort spot to the Canadian city, a distance of about 32 miles. He said he hoped to be the first man to conquer the lake. Marilyn Bell, a Toronto school girl became the first person to swim the lake last summer.

NBA Admits Boxing Cleanup Too Big; Senate Next Step

Detroit, Aug. 16 (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. will ask Congress to help it clean up professional boxing. The job, it says, is too big for the Association.

The group took the action yesterday after it learned the FBI for the past two and a half months has been investigating the big-time ring game, long linked with underworld figures.

At the same time Anthony Petronella, NBA president, promised to name today a seven-man committee to develop nationwide uniform boxing laws.

Each state now has its own laws which vary from state to state.

George A. Barton, former NBA president and for 13 years chairman of the Minnesota Athletic Commission, told the 150 representatives of state boxing commissions from 47 states, Canada and Latin American countries that the Department of Justice entered the investigation in June through its antitrust division.

Barton said he had been approached by an agent and gave him "what I knew about the operation of the International Boxing Club and the International Boxing Managers' Guild."

Barton said he expects to be called to Washington to testify before a Senate investigating committee as a result of the probe. He added that Julius Helfand, crusading chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, also has promised to testify before the Senate investigators. New York is the only state not represented in the NBA.

Rapp's Half-Game Off Pace

Baseball Games Half Hour Slower Than 25 Years Ago

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Baseball fans who've been griping about the increasing length of major league games have cause for complaint.

Big league ball games this season are running more than 30 minutes longer than they did 25 years ago and more than 20 minutes longer than they did 15 years ago.

1930: Average time per game—1 hour, 58 minutes; games under two hours—443; games over three hours—2.

1940: Average—2 hours, 7 minutes; under two hours—281; over three hours—5.

1955: Average—2 hours, 29 minutes; under two hours—38; over three hours—55.

THESE FINDINGS coincide with the preliminary report of another survey recently submitted to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in which approximately 25 per cent of those fans interviewed indicated they would go to more games if they were "shorter and faster paced."

Commenting on the Associated Press revelations, Frick today promised action at the winter baseball meetings.

"The matter of long games," he said, "undoubtedly will come in for a great deal of discussion at the baseball meetings this winter. Wasted time is one thing the fans don't like. There are many things that might be done."

Among the reasons given by observers for the drawn-out games were numerous time outs, frequent changing of pitchers, pitchers' deliberation in throwing and excessive managerial strategy.

The race for the wire in the City Sofetball League finds the playoff contenders unyielding. Rapp's Express is a half-game off the pace after defeating Les Pommiers, 5-3, last night and Hilltop stayed in contention for a playoff berth in the American Division, beating Cedar Rest, 5-3. Subway leads the National with a 20-3 record. Rapp's are 19-3 on the season.

Subway meet Fuller-Skyline tonight to ring down the curtain, while Rapp's have yet to meet Fuller-Skyline and Hercules. Other contests scheduled for the stadium were called off in deference to the Perry's-California Cuties game.

Snapping a losing streak, Hilltop racked five hits, two of which were home runs by Bill Gavis and Ray Ashdown. "Flip" Felipe cracked a double for the winners and Schwark got an extra-base wallop for Cedar Rest, which outhit the winners, eight to five.

George Brinkman was the big gun for Cedar Rest with four straight singles. Allie Cross was the winner and Phil Tesoro the loser. Hilltop is 13 and 12 on the season.

Rapp's climbed back in the win column as Bob Perry, Bill Martini, Jack Kozlowski and Joe Moffett stroked two hits apiece. Martini poled a long shot to deep right center for a triple, while Fred Orr, Bud Lenninger and Joe Ruzzo picked up a brace of hits.

THE SCOREBOARD

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

You can't always tell the depth of the well by the length of the handle on the pump.

Which is to say, both Cleveland and New York have won six of their last seven games in the ding-dong American League race, yet the Yankees have pushed the Indians out of first place.

THE YANKS, who have played and won one more game than the Tribe, slipped back into the lead by a half-game yesterday, walking off with their second doubleheader sweep at Baltimore in two days, 5-4 and 12-6.

Runnerup Cleveland and third place Chicago, now 1½ games behind, were idle.

In the only other AL game, fourth place Boston stayed 3½ games back by smacking Washington 8-4 in way of a warm up for yet another crucial series with the Yankees opening tonight in the beantown.

BY WINNING six straight, the Yankees (who last lost to Boston in the opener of a three-game set last Tuesday) have become the third outfit to hold first place in seven days.

Going into last Tuesday's night games, Chicago was on top by percentage points only with New York second and Cleveland third. Last Thursday, the Indians were in first with a half-game spread over Chicago and the Yanks.

Cleveland gets back to action tonight at Detroit and the White Sox play at home against Kansas City. Here's the way the race stands:

	W	L	Pct.	GB
New York	71	46	.607	...
Cleveland	70	46	.603	½
Chicago	67	45	.598	1½
Boston	67	49	.578	3½

HOME RUNS powered the Yanks back into the driver's seat, with Hank Bauer's solo shot in the ninth inning, his third in three games, breaking up a 4-4 tie in the opener. In the second game, Mickey Mantle unloaded his 28th with two men on to give the Yanks an 8-0 lead in the fourth, then belted No. 29 to make it 10-2 in the sixth inning.

Mickey clubbed the first one left handed, the second right-handed. He also contributed two doubles and a single in the opener.

Rookie Johnny Kucks was the first game winner, relieving Bob Wiesler after the last place Orioles got four in the fifth. The Yanks then started Gary (Rip) Coleman, added to the roster Sunday from Denver, and he got his first major league victory with the relief help of Bob Grim, back from the disabled list, in the nightcap.

AT BOSTON, Ted Williams made the big noise, belting a grand slam homer that made it a 6-0 ball game in the second inning. Washington chased Mel Parnell with four in the third as Ray Sievers homered with two on, but southpaw Leo Kiely shut them off with one hit the rest of the way.

Jim Piersall homered for the Red Sox' other two runs in the seventh.

In the lone National League game, Milwaukee slammed St. Louis 12-1. Williard Schmidt, who one-hit the Braves last week, was the loser.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching

Leo Kiely, Red Sox, gained 8-4 decision in relief, snapping off a four-run Washington rally with two strikeouts in the third and allowing just one hit the rest of the way.

Batting

Mickey Mantle, Yankees, hit 28th and 29th homers, two doubles and a single while driving in five runs in eight at bats in 5-4, 12-6 doubleheader sweep at Baltimore that boosted New York back into first place.

Nashua is the fourth horse in recent years to win both Hialeah's Flamingo and the Preakness.

Big Klu Boosts Average to .326; Kaline Tops AL

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies held a slim seven point lead over the onrushing Ted Kluszewski in the National League batting race today.

Kluszewski, the Cincinnati slugger, collected 16 hits, including five homers, in 32 trips last week. The outburst increased his league-leading home run total to 41 and boosted his batting average to .326.

ASHBURN, meanwhile, gained five points to .333 as a result of eight hits in 17 times at bat.

Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, the pace-setter last week, slumped 12 points to .322, still good for third place.

In the American League, Al Kaline of Detroit lost three points to .348, but he's way out in front of runnerup Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers. Kuenn dropped six points to .323. Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .319.

Baseball Games Half Hour Slower Than 25 Years Ago

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Baseball fans who've been griping about the increasing length of major league games have cause for complaint.

Big league ball games this season are running more than 30 minutes longer than they did 25 years ago and more than 20 minutes longer than they did 15 years ago.

An Associated Press survey today revealed these startling figures (based on nine-inning games and through games of Aug. 15):

1930: Average time per game—1 hour, 58 minutes; games under two hours—443; games over three hours—2.

1940: Average—2 hours, 7 minutes; under two hours—281; over three hours—5.

1955: Average—2 hours, 29 minutes; under two hours—38; over three hours—55.

THESE FINDINGS coincide with the preliminary report of another survey recently submitted to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick in which approximately 25 per cent of those fans interviewed indicated they would go to more games if they were "shorter and faster paced."

Commenting on the Associated Press revelations, Frick today promised action at the winter baseball meetings.

"The matter of long games," he said, "undoubtedly will come in for a great deal of discussion at the baseball meetings this winter. Wasted time is one thing the fans don't like. There are many things that might be done."

Among the reasons given by observers for the drawn-out games were numerous time outs, frequent changing of pitchers, pitchers' deliberation in throwing and excessive managerial strategy.

Going into last Tuesday's night games, Chicago was on top by percentage points only with New York second and Cleveland third. Last Thursday, the Indians were in first with a half-game spread over Chicago and the Yanks.

Mickey clubbed the first one left handed, the second right-handed. He also contributed two doubles and a single in the opener.

Rookie Johnny Kucks was the first game winner, relieving Bob Wiesler after the last place Orioles got four in the fifth. The Yanks then started Gary (Rip) Coleman, added to the roster Sunday from Denver, and he got his first major league victory with the relief help of Bob Grim, back from the disabled list, in the nightcap.

AT BOSTON, Ted Williams made the big noise, belting a grand slam homer that made it a 6-0 ball game in the second inning. Washington chased Mel Parnell with four in the third as Ray Sievers homered with two on, but southpaw Leo Kiely shut them off with one hit the rest of the way.

Jim Piersall homered for the Red Sox' other two runs in the seventh.

Williams' homer, his 20th of the year, was a 450-foot wallop off Ted Abernathy. It was his 13th grand slammer, tying him with Ralph Kiner among active players.

In the lone National League game, Milwaukee slammed St. Louis 12-1. Willard Schmidt, who one-hit the Braves last week, was the loser.

Big Klu Boosts Average to .326; Kaline Tops AL

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies held a slim seven point lead over the onrushing Ted Kluszewski in the National League batting race today.

Kluszewski, the Cincinnati slugger, collected 16 hits, including five homers, in 32 trips last week. The outburst increased his league-leading home run total to 41 and boosted his batting average to .326.

ASHBURN, meanwhile, gained five points to .333 as a result of eight hits in 17 times at bat.

Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, the pace-setter last week, slumped 12 points to .322, still good for third place.

In the American League, Al Kaline of Detroit lost three points to .348, but he's way out in front of runnerup Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers. Kuenn dropped six points to .323. Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .319.

Pitching

Leo Kiely, Red Sox, gained 8-4 decision in relief, snapping off a four-run Washington rally with two strikeouts in the third and allowing just one hit the rest of the way.

Batting

Mickey Mantle, Yankees, hit 28th and 29th homers, two doubles and a single while driving in five runs in eight at bats in 5-4, 12-6 doubleheader sweep at Baltimore that boosted New York back into first place.

Nashua is the fourth horse in recent years to win both Hialeah's Flamingo and the Preakness.

Charles M. Schwab once told of a southern railroad man who came into the office of the Carnegie Company in Pittsburgh years ago to negotiate for steel for his new road.

The price of the rails — $30 per ton — was entirely satisfactory, the quality taken for granted, and all was well so far. Mr. Schwab knew well, from long experience, what would come next.

Railroad Man—Now in payment, Mr. Schwab, will you take bonds of the new road?

Mr. Schwab—Oh, yes.

Railroad Man—You will! On what basis?

Mr. Schwab — Fifty-fifty. A ton of bonds for a ton of rails.

Palmyra, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—A total of 60,000 persons watched this year's performance of the annual Mormon pageant "America's Witness for Christ." The pageant has been presented here for 14 years. Rivers Outpoints King at Garden

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Neal Rivers, a baby faced middleweight with a real man's punch, had the most important victory of his budding career to his credit today.

The 21-year-old prospect decisively outpointed Jimmy King, the European-polished veteran from Birmingham, Ala., in a televsion 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena last night. It was the seventh straight win for the youngster from Niagara Falls, who was making his first start as a pro in his home state.

RIVERS has been campaigning on the west coast. He got the TV shot against the 30-year-old King because none of the better middleweights around cared to mix it up with the traveling Alabama Negro. Twenty-five of King's last 27 fights have been fought in Europe.

The husky youngster opened a jagged cut over King's left eye in the second round and piled up a huge lead going into the hectic ninth. In that rousing round each fighter went down.

The unanimous votes for Rivers were: Referee Barney Felix and Judge Leo Birnbaum, 7-2-1 each, and Judge Bert Grant, 8-2. The AP card had Rivers in front 8-2.

Red Birds Third In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The Allentown Red Birds, behind the pitching of Dick Ricketts, have moved into third place in the Eastern League.

They came through last night with an 8-4 victory over the Binghamton Triplets, erstwhile holders of the position. The former Duquesne basketball star was never in trouble. He gave up nine hits, fanned five and walked nobody.

BUT THERE didn't seem to be any catching the Reading Indians. The league leaders were shut out 7-0 by Lefty Jim Singleton of the Johnstown Johnnies in the first half of a twin bill but came back to down the Johnnies by an equally lopsided 9-1 score.

Even with this less-than-perfect showing, the Indians added a half-game to their lead because second-place Williamsport bowed to Schenectady 12-5.

The Albany Senators inched out the Elmira Pioneers 7-6, although the Pioneers posed a major threat when they tied the game 6-6 in the ninth.

Secreto 1-Hits Sox

Dodgers Win, 10-4

Standings

Dodgers	7	1
Giants	6	1
Yankees	1	6
Red Sox	1	7

Walks have given many pitchers nightmares, and last night in the American Little League at the 156th FA Field, Ronny Secreto found himself in that circle of hurlers as he gave up seven bases on balls in pitching a one-hitter as the Sprague Dodgers romped to a 10-4 win over the Moose Red Sox.

Aside from the free tickets, Secreto's performance was tremendous in that he struck out 11 but walked in runs in the first and fourth innings. The one hit was of the scratch variety.

Bob Robinson tapped the ball on a bounce over Secreto's head and just barely out of his reach. But for that and the walks Secreto would have had the ultimate in pitching.

He gave up four walks for one run in the first frame, and was touched for the hit in the third as he gave up three walks for three runs in the third canto.

Dick Whiston was fairly stable in the first couple of innings but was reached for four passes in the four and a half innings he pitched.

The win was the seventh for the Dodgers, and the same number of losses for the Red Sox who have secured one victory. Tom Ashdown's two ringing doubles were big factors in last night's victory.

London Police Seize Arms, Irish Terrorists Accused

London, Aug. 16 (AP) — Police raided an empty shop in London's shabby second hand market area today and seized a large quantity of guns and ammunition believed to have been stolen Saturday from a British Army depot by Irish terrorists.

Some of the weapons, including Bren guns and rifles, were packed in boxes apparently ready for transportation, police said.

The weapons were seized in the basement of the empty shop on Caledonian Road in the King Cross railroad station area.

Police said they believed the weapons and ammunition were most of the haul made by members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) in their raid on the Aborfield army depot in Berkshire near Reading Saturday.

Twelve Scotland Yard detectives, all armed, kept a 12-hour watch before raiding the shop.

The fact that they were armed illustrated the seriousness with which the police and the army regard the IRA raiders. Usually British policemen are unarmed.

Sir John Nott-Bower, head of Scotland Yard, and other high ranking police and army officers, viewed the seized weapons and ammunition before they were returned to the Berkshire police.

The IRA men, who followed up the Aborfield raid with two abortive swoops on depots in Wales and England, have been described as "desperate and dangerous." They made off with 68 guns and about 80,000 rounds of ammunition from Aborfield.

Fears grew that the swoops by the outlawed Irish Republican Army, dedicated to uniting northern and southern Ireland —by force if necessary—might lead to guerrilla warfare in Ulster, the six northern counties of Ireland still under the British Crown.

Police already have found three of the vehicles used in the Arborfield raid.

One truck loaded with cases of ammunition was found on the day of the coup near Arborfield. Another truck and a passenger car used in the raid were found abandoned and empty in London earlier today.

The British war office meantime clamped a tight guard on its armories and special watch was being kept on all means of exit from England in an effort to prevent smuggling of the arms to Ireland.

Parley Is

fend the truce teams against South Korean attack.

CHOU REVIVED the standing Red Chinese proposal that all foreign troops leave Korea.

He charged that just when "world tension has been eased to a certain extent" Rhee's government had demanded withdrawal of the truce teams and "openly expressed" its intention to seize the city of Kaesong and the Ongjin Peninsula.

Marshal Kim, who customarily refers to the South Korean government as the "Rhee gangsters," adopted an unusually mild tone.

HE PROPOSED reducing armies in both north and south "to the minimum" and spending the money and using the manpower thus freed for "peaceful construction." Then he called for "efforts to arrange the speedy convening of a conference of representatives of the South and North Korean governments to discuss the question of Korea's unification."

In a bristling speech only the day before, President Rhee had told a Seoul audience that conferences with Communists merely gave them time to consolidate gains and plan new aggression.

"The real problem is not how to achieve peace," he said, "but how to deal effectively with Communist aggression."

National Head

cently awarded Mr. Raney an honorary degree of doctor of laws. He is actively interested in state and national educational and civic organizations.

As president of Kiwanis International he will be official spokesman for more than 240,000 Kiwanians in more than 4,000 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

May Take Stand Today

Ft. Lewis, Wash., Aug. 16 (AP) —Lt. Jefferson Erwin, being tried by an army court martial on charges he collaborated with his Communist captors while a prisoner of war in North Korea, was scheduled to take the stand in his own behalf today. Erwin's defense counsel indicated the career soldier would be on the witness stand all day. Yesterday the senior American officer at POW Camp 7 testified by deposition from Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., that in his opinion Erwin never voluntarily collaborated or cooperated with the enemy at any time. Lt. Col. John J. Dunn's deposition said: "If the enemy had treated the prisoners with elementary decency . . . there would never have been any reason for investigating anyone for collaboration with the enemy."

Report on Grapes

Westfield, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)—Prospects are good for Concord grapes in the eastern and western grape growing sections of the United States, say the directors of the National Grape Cooperative Assn. But in Michigan, Missouri and Arkansas bad weather has cut crop expectations in half, the directors said in a report released here yesterday. In New York state, the Chautauqua-Erie county area prospects were excellent and just below last year's the report said.

Surprise Atomic

suggestion will provide a starting point for the United States in the talks.

There were indications that no complete plan will be put forth at this time, but rather that negotiations based on the aerial survey plan might be tried with the hope they would lead to some satisfactory and comprehensive system of controls.

Aerial photographs could be supplemented, officials believe, by constant inspection of seaports, airports, railway centers and other checkpoints along the lines of a proposal the Russians themselves made last May. The idea is that unusual military preparations would be reflected in added activity at such points.

In the U. S. view, however, there would be need also for the inspection teams to be able to move about, to check on possible alternate routes for such traffic.

Aerial surveys themselves also could be checked further by ground inspections.

Whatever system is developed, U. S. officials say it would have to be in operation before armaments actually could be cut.

AirmanPondering

since then but would do "anything to help him."

UNA'S ATTORNEY, Harold Berlinger of Nevada City, would not comment on the possibility of a divorce or a child custody fight until officially notified.

Thomas J. Murray, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been in contact with Schmidt's attorney and the airman knows of the VFW's offer to finance a divorce.

"Welch told me he had been retained by Schmidt as his counsel," said Murray, "and I assured him he will receive the full cooperation of the VFW—including associate counsel—if he needs it."

"If this turns out to be a child custody case it could be a winging and Daniel may need all the help he can get," Murray commented.

Rivers Outpoints King at Garden

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Neal Rivers, a baby faced middleweight with a real man's punch, had the most important victory of his budding career to his credit today.

The 21-year-old prospect decisively outpointed Jimmy King, the European-polished veteran from Birmingham, Ala., in a televsion 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena last night. It was the seventh straight win for the youngster from Niagara Falls, who was making his first start as a pro in his home state.

RIVERS has been campaigning on the west coast. He got the TV shot against the 30-year-old King because none of the better middleweights around cared to mix it up with the traveling Alabama Negro. Twenty-five of King's last 27 fights have been fought in Europe.

The husky youngster opened a jagged cut over King's left eye in the second round and piled up a huge lead going into the hectic ninth. In that rousing round each fighter went down.

The unanimous votes for Rivers were: Referee Barney Felix and Judge Leo Birnbaum, 7-2-1 each, and Judge Bert Grant, 8-2. The AP card had Rivers in front 8-2.

Red Birds Third In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The Allentown Red Birds, behind the pitching of Dick Ricketts, have moved into third place in the Eastern League.

They came through last night with an 8-4 victory over the Binghamton Triplets, erstwhile holders of the position. The former Duquesne basketball star was never in trouble. He gave up nine hits, fanned five and walked nobody.

BUT THERE didn't seem to be any catching the Reading Indians. The league leaders were shut out 7-0 by Lefty Jim Singleton of the Johnstown Johnnies in the first half of a twin bill but came back to down the Johnnies by an equally lopsided 9-1 score.

Even with this less-than-perfect showing, the Indians added a half-game to their lead because second-place Williamsport bowed to Schenectady 12-5.

The Albany Senators inched out the Elmira Pioneers 7-6, although the Pioneers posed a major threat when they tied the game 6-6 in the ninth.

Secreto 1-Hits Sox

Dodgers Win, 10-4

Standings

Dodgers	7	1
Giants	6	1
Yankees	1	6
Red Sox	1	7

Walks have given many pitchers nightmares, and last night in the American Little League at the 156th FA Field, Ronny Secreto found himself in that circle of hurlers as he gave up seven bases on balls in pitching a one-hitter as the Sprague Dodgers romped to a 10-4 win over the Moose Red Sox.

Aside from the free tickets, Secreto's performance was tremendous in that he struck out 11 but walked in runs in the first and fourth innings. The one hit was of the scratch variety.

Bob Robinson tapped the ball on a bounce over Secreto's head and just barely out of his reach. But for that and the walks Secreto would have had the ultimate in pitching.

He gave up four walks for one run in the first frame, and was touched for the hit in the third as he gave up three walks for three runs in the third canto.

Dick Whiston was fairly stable in the first couple of innings but was reached for four passes in the four and a half innings he pitched.

The win was the seventh for the Dodgers, and the same number of losses for the Red Sox who have secured one victory. Tom Ashdown's two ringing doubles were big factors in last night's victory.

London Police Seize Arms, Irish Terrorists Accused

London, Aug. 16 (AP) — Police raided an empty shop in London's shabby second hand market area today and seized a large quantity of guns and ammunition believed to have been stolen Saturday from a British Army depot by Irish terrorists.

Some of the weapons, including Bren guns and rifles, were packed in boxes apparently ready for transportation, police said.

The weapons were seized in the basement of the empty shop on Caledonian Road in the King Cross railroad station area.

Police said they believed the weapons and ammunition were most of the haul made by members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) in their raid on the Aborfield army depot in Berkshire near Reading Saturday.

Twelve Scotland Yard detectives, all armed, kept a 12-hour watch before raiding the shop.

The fact that they were armed illustrated the seriousness with which the police and the army regard the IRA raiders. Usually British policemen are unarmed.

Sir John Nott-Bower, head of Scotland Yard, and other high ranking police and army officers, viewed the seized weapons and ammunition before they were returned to the Berkshire police.

The IRA men, who followed up the Aborfield raid with two abortive swoops on depots in Wales and England, have been described as "desperate and dangerous." They made off with 68 guns and about 80,000 rounds of ammunition from Aborfield.

Fears grew that the swoops by the outlawed Irish Republican Army, dedicated to uniting northern and southern Ireland —by force if necessary—might lead to guerrilla warfare in Ulster, the six northern counties of Ireland still under the British Crown.

Police already have found three of the vehicles used in the Arborfield raid.

One truck loaded with cases of ammunition was found on the day of the coup near Arborfield. Another truck and a passenger car used in the raid were found abandoned and empty in London earlier today.

The British war office meantime clamped a tight guard on its armories and special watch was being kept on all means of exit from England in an effort to prevent smuggling of the arms to Ireland.

fend the truce teams against South Korean attack.

CHOU REVIVED the standing Red Chinese proposal that all foreign troops leave Korea.

He charged that just when "world tension has been eased to a certain extent" Rhee's government had demanded withdrawal of the truce teams and "openly expressed" its intention to seize the city of Kaesong and the Ongjin Peninsula.

Marshal Kim, who customarily refers to the South Korean government as the "Rhee gangsters," adopted an unusually mild tone.

HE PROPOSED reducing armies in both north and south "to the minimum" and spending the money and using the manpower thus freed for "peaceful construction." Then he called for "efforts to arrange the speedy convening of a conference of representatives of the South and North Korean governments to discuss the question of Korea's unification."

In a bristling speech only the day before, President Rhee had told a Seoul audience that conferences with Communists merely gave them time to consolidate gains and plan new aggression.

"The real problem is not how to achieve peace," he said, "but how to deal effectively with Communist aggression."

cently awarded Mr. Raney an honorary degree of doctor of laws. He is actively interested in state and national educational and civic organizations.

As president of Kiwanis International he will be official spokesman for more than 240,000 Kiwanians in more than 4,000 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

May Take Stand Today

Ft. Lewis, Wash., Aug. 16 (AP) —Lt. Jefferson Erwin, being tried by an army court martial on charges he collaborated with his Communist captors while a prisoner of war in North Korea, was scheduled to take the stand in his own behalf today. Erwin's defense counsel indicated the career soldier would be on the witness stand all day. Yesterday the senior American officer at POW Camp 7 testified by deposition from Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., that in his opinion Erwin never voluntarily collaborated or cooperated with the enemy at any time. Lt. Col. John J. Dunn's deposition said: "If the enemy had treated the prisoners with elementary decency . . . there would never have been any reason for investigating anyone for collaboration with the enemy."

Report on Grapes

Westfield, N. Y., Aug. 16 (AP)— Prospects are good for Concord grapes in the eastern and western grape growing sections of the United States, say the directors of the National Grape Cooperative Assn. But in Michigan, Missouri and Arkansas bad weather has cut crop expectations in half, the directors said in a report released here yesterday. In New York state, the Chautauqua-Erie county area prospects were excellent and just below last year's the report said.

suggestion will provide a starting point for the United States in the talks.

There were indications that no complete plan will be put forth at this time, but rather that negotiations based on the aerial survey plan might be tried with the hope they would lead to some satisfactory and comprehensive system of controls.

Aerial photographs could be supplemented, officials believe, by constant inspection of seaports, airports, railway centers and other checkpoints along the lines of a proposal the Russians themselves made last May. The idea is that unusual military preparations would be reflected in added activity at such points.

In the U. S. view, however, there would be need also for the inspection teams to be able to move about, to check on possible alternate routes for such traffic.

Aerial surveys themselves also could be checked further by ground inspections.

Whatever system is developed, U. S. officials say it would have to be in operation before armaments actually could be cut.

since then but would do "anything to help him."

UNA'S ATTORNEY, Harold Berlinger of Nevada City, would not comment on the possibility of a divorce or a child custody fight until officially notified.

Thomas J. Murray, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been in contact with Schmidt's attorney and the airman knows of the VFW's offer to finance a divorce.

"Welch told me he had been retained by Schmidt as his counsel," said Murray, "and I assured him he will receive the full cooperation of the VFW—including associate counsel—if he needs it."

"If this turns out to be a child custody case it could be a wingding and Daniel may need all the help he can get," Murray commented.

army commanders, and to launch a wave of terror by disrupting power lines, communications, radio stations and public utilities.

The government charged the "Catholic Nationalist" plotters were "perfectly organized" in Communist-like cells and had secreted their arms in a Catholic seminary. It said some arms caches were seized.

POLICE REFUSED to reveal the names of those arrested, saying it might hamper their investigation. But they said they included a woman accused of spreading revolutionary leaflets by balloons.

The government single out as ringleaders in the plot (1) Mario Amadeo, a Catholic lawyer and former top diplomat; (2) David Michel Torino, a leader of the opposition Radical party; (3) an unnamed Radical party member of Congress (there are only 12), and (4) leaders of the Democratic (Conservative) party, whose president made a radio speech last week criticizing the Peron administration.

Amadeo has been in hiding since the June revolt. He caused a sensation last month by issuing printed pamphlets calling on the army to oust Peron.

Torino was still free last night. He received newsmen at his home and said he was "surprised" at the announcement of the plot in the afternoon papers.

information on what had happened to them.

(IN LISBON, the Portuguese foreign ministry said an unknown number of Indians had been killed and wounded yesterday. It said "the Portuguese authorities were obliged to meet violence with violence . . . the responsibility for this bloodshed rests entirely upon the persons who encouraged, permitted and abetted the invasion."

(The Portuguese communique said the Indian demonstrators were expelled, "although a few individuals may still lurk in less accessible areas." The communique added: "The Portuguese government formally protests to the government of India against the serious violations of sovereignty perpetrated.")

In New Delhi, workers paraded through the city with anti-Portuguese banners and shops and stalls closed one after another.

Several thousand "nonviolent" Indian nationalist demonstrators marched into the Portuguese colonies of Goa, Damao and Diu yesterday on the eighth anniversary of India's independence from Britain. They sought to arouse popular support for the Indian campaign to take over the areas, the last foreign territories in the country.

'Shifty' Eyes

Young flounders start life quite normally, with one eye on each side of the head. As they begin to swim and rest on one side, one eye begins to migrate until both are on the upperside of the head.

Gallagher Denies

about having told an army interviewer this year that life in the prison camp was "a case of dog eat dog—everybody for themselves.

"What I mean was," Gallagher replied, "there were groups there—of four or five men—who stuck together and took care of each other. They said "to hell with everybody else in the camp."

"I wouldn't say everybody was out to cut each other's throat, as you seem to imply."

Gallagher has emphatically denied having caused the death of fellow prisoners.

In testimony at his court-martial yesterday, Gallagher, 23, said of prosecution witnesses:

"They're not lying—they're just not remembering. That happened years ago (in 1951)—if their memory isn't as good as mine, I can't help that."

Gallagher, who was to return to the stand today, gave his version of the incidents and stuck to it in an hour of sharp cross-examination.

The reddish blonde Brooklyn soldier is accused of collaborating with his Red captors and of murdering three other prisoners. The court martial charge describes the alleged murders as unpremeditated, making it equivalent to a second degree murder charge.

BEFORE Gallagher took the stand in his own defense in the 10th day of his court-maitial, a score of prosecution witnesses testified that he sought favor with the Communists and that his treatment of three prisoners caused their deaths. They said he threw Cpl. Donald Thomas Baxter of Waukon, Iowa, and Cpl. John William Jones, of Detroit out of the prisoners' squalid hut and let them freeze to death.

Both men were weak and ill with dysentery at the time.

Gallagher admitted he and another man had carried Jones out of the hut after the sick soldier failed to respond to orders to clean himself. However, Gallagher said, he carried Jones back in again after about 15 minutes.

REGARDING Baxter, Gallagher denied putting him out of the hut and said that on the contrary he had helped carry the sick man into the hut after he collapsed in the compound.

Gallagher also denied doing anything that would kill the third man, previously unnamed but whom Gallagher called Dunn. Other witnesses said Gallagher hung the man on a wall peg and beat him, after which the man died.

Gallagher testified that he had put Dunn on the peg to help him exercise and overcome the effects of pneumonia. He said the man was too weak to stand without support and he had tied him to the peg with an army scarf.

HE TRIED to get Dunn to exercise on the advice of a British doctor, Gallagher said, but the sick man did no want to. He said he finally gave up trying to force him, and the man died.

Gallagher also denied that he advised a Communist instructor to shoot a squad of POW's who resisted Communist indoctrination or that he ever willingly spread Communist propaganda.

Church Refused Right to Build House for Pastor

A zoning board decision released today denies application of the Rev. Robert Vinson, petitioning for the First Church of God, to build a parsonage on a Franklin street property between Wall and Fair streets.

Decision was based largely on failure to meet the zoning regulation which requires a new structure to be 18 feet from the street line and 10 feet between curb and property lines.

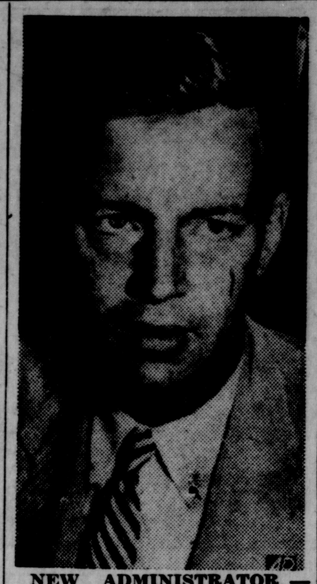

THE DECISION noted that a church building about 30 by 60 feet is now on the property, and the balance of the lot lies at Wall and Franklin streets. The petitioner sought to construct a building about 26 by 40 feet. It would be eight feet from the street line on the Franklin street side.

Neighbors in the area objected, contending that the new building would result in crowding and congestion in the area, and cause new traffic dangers. Among them were Isidore Jacobson, 100 Wall street, represented by Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, and Dr. Henry L. Bibby, 97 Wall street, represented by Attorney Frank Martocci.

Hearing was held recently on the petition, and the board's decision was announced today by Attorney Joseph Avis, zoning board chairman.

Two Are Injured In Local Mishaps

Two persons were reported slightly injured in city traffic mishaps today and yesterday.

George W. Baechtle, of 175 Clifton avenue, suffered an injury of the right hand in an accident at First avenue and Hooker street this morning, and Archibald Lamay, 29, of Todd Hill road, Poughkeepsie, reported a neck injury in a mishap at Broadway and Cornell street last night.

Officers Edward Leonard and Gurnsey Burger, Sr., reported at 7:45 a. m., today that a sedan owned by Fred Baechtle, of 175 Clifton avenue, and driven by George W. Baechtle, of the same address, was headed south on Hooker street, and a dump truck of the Second Equipment Co., PO Box 209, Kingston, with Thomas Gallo, 55, of 48 Van Buren street, driving, was headed east on First avenue.

army commanders, and to launch a wave of terror by disrupting power lines, communications, radio stations and public utilities.

The government charged the "Catholic Nationalist" plotters were "perfectly organized" in Communist-like cells and had secreted their arms in a Catholic seminary. It said some arms caches were seized.

POLICE REFUSED to reveal the names of those arrested, saying it might hamper their investigation. But they said they included a woman accused of spreading revolutionary leaflets by balloons.

The government single out as ringleaders in the plot (1) Mario Amadeo, a Catholic lawyer and former top diplomat; (2) David Michel Torino, a leader of the opposition Radical party; (3) an unnamed Radical party member of Congress (there are only 12), and (4) leaders of the Democratic (Conservative) party, whose president made a radio speech last week criticizing the Peron administration.

Amadeo has been in hiding since the June revolt. He caused a sensation last month by issuing printed pamphlets calling on the army to oust Peron.

Torino was still free last night. He received newsmen at his home and said he was "surprised" at the announcement of the plot in the afternoon papers.

Portuguese

information on what had happened to them.

(IN LISBON, the Portuguese foreign ministry said an unknown number of Indians had been killed and wounded yesterday. It said "the Portuguese authorities were obliged to meet violence with violence . . . the responsibility for this bloodshed rests entirely upon the persons who encouraged, permitted and abetted the invasion."

(The Portuguese communique said the Indian demonstrators were expelled, "although a few individuals may still lurk in less accessible areas." The communique added: "The Portuguese government formally protests to the government of India against the serious violations of sovereignty perpetrated.")

In New Delhi, workers paraded through the city with anti-Portuguese banners and shops and stalls closed one after another.

Several thousand "nonviolent" Indian nationalist demonstrators marched into the Portuguese colonies of Goa, Damao and Diu yesterday on the eighth anniversary of India's independence from Britain. They sought to arouse popular support for the Indian campaign to take over the areas, the last foreign territories in the country.

'Shifty' Eyes

Young flounders start life quite normally, with one eye on each side of the head. As they begin to swim and rest on one side, one eye begins to migrate until both are on the upperside of the head.

Gallagher Denies

about having told an army interviewer this year that life in the prison camp was "a case of dog eat dog—everybody for themselves.

"What I mean was," Gallagher replied, "there were groups there—of four or five men—who stuck together and took care of each other. They said "to hell with everybody else in the camp."

"I wouldn't say everybody was out to cut each other's throat, as you seem to imply."

Gallagher has emphatically denied having caused the death of fellow prisoners.

In testimony at his court-martial yesterday, Gallagher, 23, said of prosecution witnesses:

"They're not lying—they're just not remembering. That happened years ago (in 1951)—if their memory isn't as good as mine, I can't help that."

Gallagher, who was to return to the stand today, gave his version of the incidents and stuck to it in an hour of sharp cross-examination.

The reddish blonde Brooklyn soldier is accused of collaborating with his Red captors and of murdering three other prisoners. The court martial charge describes the alleged murders as unpremeditated, making it equivalent to a second degree murder charge.

BEFORE Gallagher took the stand in his own defense in the 10th day of his court-maitial, a score of prosecution witnesses testified that he sought favor with the Communists and that his treatment of three prisoners caused their deaths. They said he threw Cpl. Donald Thomas Baxter of Waukon, Iowa, and Cpl. John William Jones, of Detroit out of the prisoners' squalid hut and let them freeze to death.

Both men were weak and ill with dysentery at the time.

Gallagher admitted he and another man had carried Jones out of the hut after the sick soldier failed to respond to orders to clean himself. However, Gallagher said, he carried Jones back in again after about 15 minutes.

REGARDING Baxter, Gallagher denied putting him out of the hut and said that on the contrary he had helped carry the sick man into the hut after he collapsed in the compound.

Gallagher also denied doing anything that would kill the third man, previously unnamed but whom Gallagher called Dunn. Other witnesses said Gallagher hung the man on a wall peg and beat him, after which the man died.

Gallagher testified that he had put Dunn on the peg to help him exercise and overcome the effects of pneumonia. He said the man was too weak to stand without support and he had tied him to the peg with an army scarf.

HE TRIED to get Dunn to exercise on the advice of a British doctor, Gallagher said, but the sick man did no want to. He said he finally gave up trying to force him, and the man died.

Gallagher also denied that he advised a Communist instructor to shoot a squad of POW's who resisted Communist indoctrination or that he ever willingly spread Communist propaganda.

Church Refused Right to Build House for Pastor

A zoning board decision released today denies application of the Rev. Robert Vinson, petitioning for the First Church of God, to build a parsonage on a Franklin street property between Wall and Fair streets.

Decision was based largely on failure to meet the zoning regulation which requires a new structure to be 18 feet from the street line and 10 feet between curb and property lines.

THE DECISION noted that a church building about 30 by 60 feet is now on the property, and the balance of the lot lies at Wall and Franklin streets. The petitioner sought to construct a building about 26 by 40 feet. It would be eight feet from the street line on the Franklin street side.

Neighbors in the area objected, contending that the new building would result in crowding and congestion in the area, and cause new traffic dangers. Among them were Isidore Jacobson, 100 Wall street, represented by Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, and Dr. Henry L. Bibby, 97 Wall street, represented by Attorney Frank Martocci.

Hearing was held recently on the petition, and the board's decision was announced today by Attorney Joseph Avis, zoning board chairman.

Ex-Governor Dies

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 16 (AP) —Charles A. Templeton, whose career in Republican politics carried him from this city's board of aldermen to the governor's chair, is dead at the age of 84. Templeton, the state's chief executive from 1923 to 1925, died yesterday at Waterbury Hospital, where he had been confined since June 22 and on the critical list since July 5. Templeton, a native of Sharon, was an active sportsman and was president of the Waterbury team in the Eastern Baseball League.

Two Are Injured In Local Mishaps

Two persons were reported slightly injured in city traffic mishaps today and yesterday.

George W. Baechtle, of 175 Clifton avenue, suffered an injury of the right hand in an accident at First avenue and Hooker street this morning, and Archibald Lamay, 29, of Todd Hill road, Poughkeepsie, reported a neck injury in a mishap at Broadway and Cornell street last night.

Officers Edward Leonard and Gurnsey Burger, Sr., reported at 7:45 a. m., today that a sedan owned by Fred Baechtle, of 175 Clifton avenue, and driven by George W. Baechtle, of the same address, was headed south on Hooker street, and a dump truck of the Second Equipment Co., PO Box 209, Kingston, with Thomas Gallo, 55, of 48 Van Buren street, driving, was headed east on First avenue.

The other mishap was reported at 6:50 p. m., yesterday. Thomas Miller, 23, of 59 Cedar street, and Raymond J. Long, 25, of 498 Washington avenue, were both headed north on Broadway when they collided, the report said.

U. S. railroad operating revenues for 1954 were 9,371 million dollars, the smallest since 1949.
